The Road Not Taken

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Foreword

This poem, along with other lines from the familiar poetry of Robert Frost, have been chosen to express the theme of the 1963 Harvester annual—the long, long thoughts of youth as we choose our road of life. During these days of decision, we are filled with thoughts that we feel can best be conveyed by the use of poetry.

These poems by Robert Frost are especially fitting for our purpose, because they express an uncommon meaning in common things. We hope that everyone will enjoy—and pause to reflect upon—the long, long thoughts of youth as we recall the year 1962-63 at Pampa High School.

Dedication

For her outstanding efforts in the teaching of Latin at Pampa High School, the 1963 Harvester annual staff takes pride in dedicating this book to Mrs. Lula Bowman Owen.

Mrs. Owen retired last year after 17 years on the faculty.

Her first goal was to teach English, but for the most she tried—and succeeded—in keeping alive the language of the ancient Romans. In her last year at Pampa High, she had 100 students enrolled in her Latin classes. Besides the customary first and second-year courses, a third year was added last year for advanced students who wished to further their knowledge of the classical language.

Besides her regular classroom duties, Mrs. Owen sponsored the Junior Classical League, a club for Latin students designed to promote interest in Roman mythology and Latin culture.

Because of her enthusiasm in the classroom, the ideals she instilled in her students will always be remembered by those who came under her guidance.

Before a program about Ceres, goddess of agriculture, Mrs. Owen places the last head of grain on the cornucopia centerpiece, as Susan Kay, 1960-61 president, prepares to begin the meeting.

At the traditional Latin banquet, Mrs. Owen humbly accepts Emperor Julius Caesar's proclamation of her deficiencies as a "Roman patrician."

Lyn Stroble, Kristi Brown and Mrs. Owen listen to Christmas carols, recorded in Latin, which the "Romans" sing at their annual caroling party.

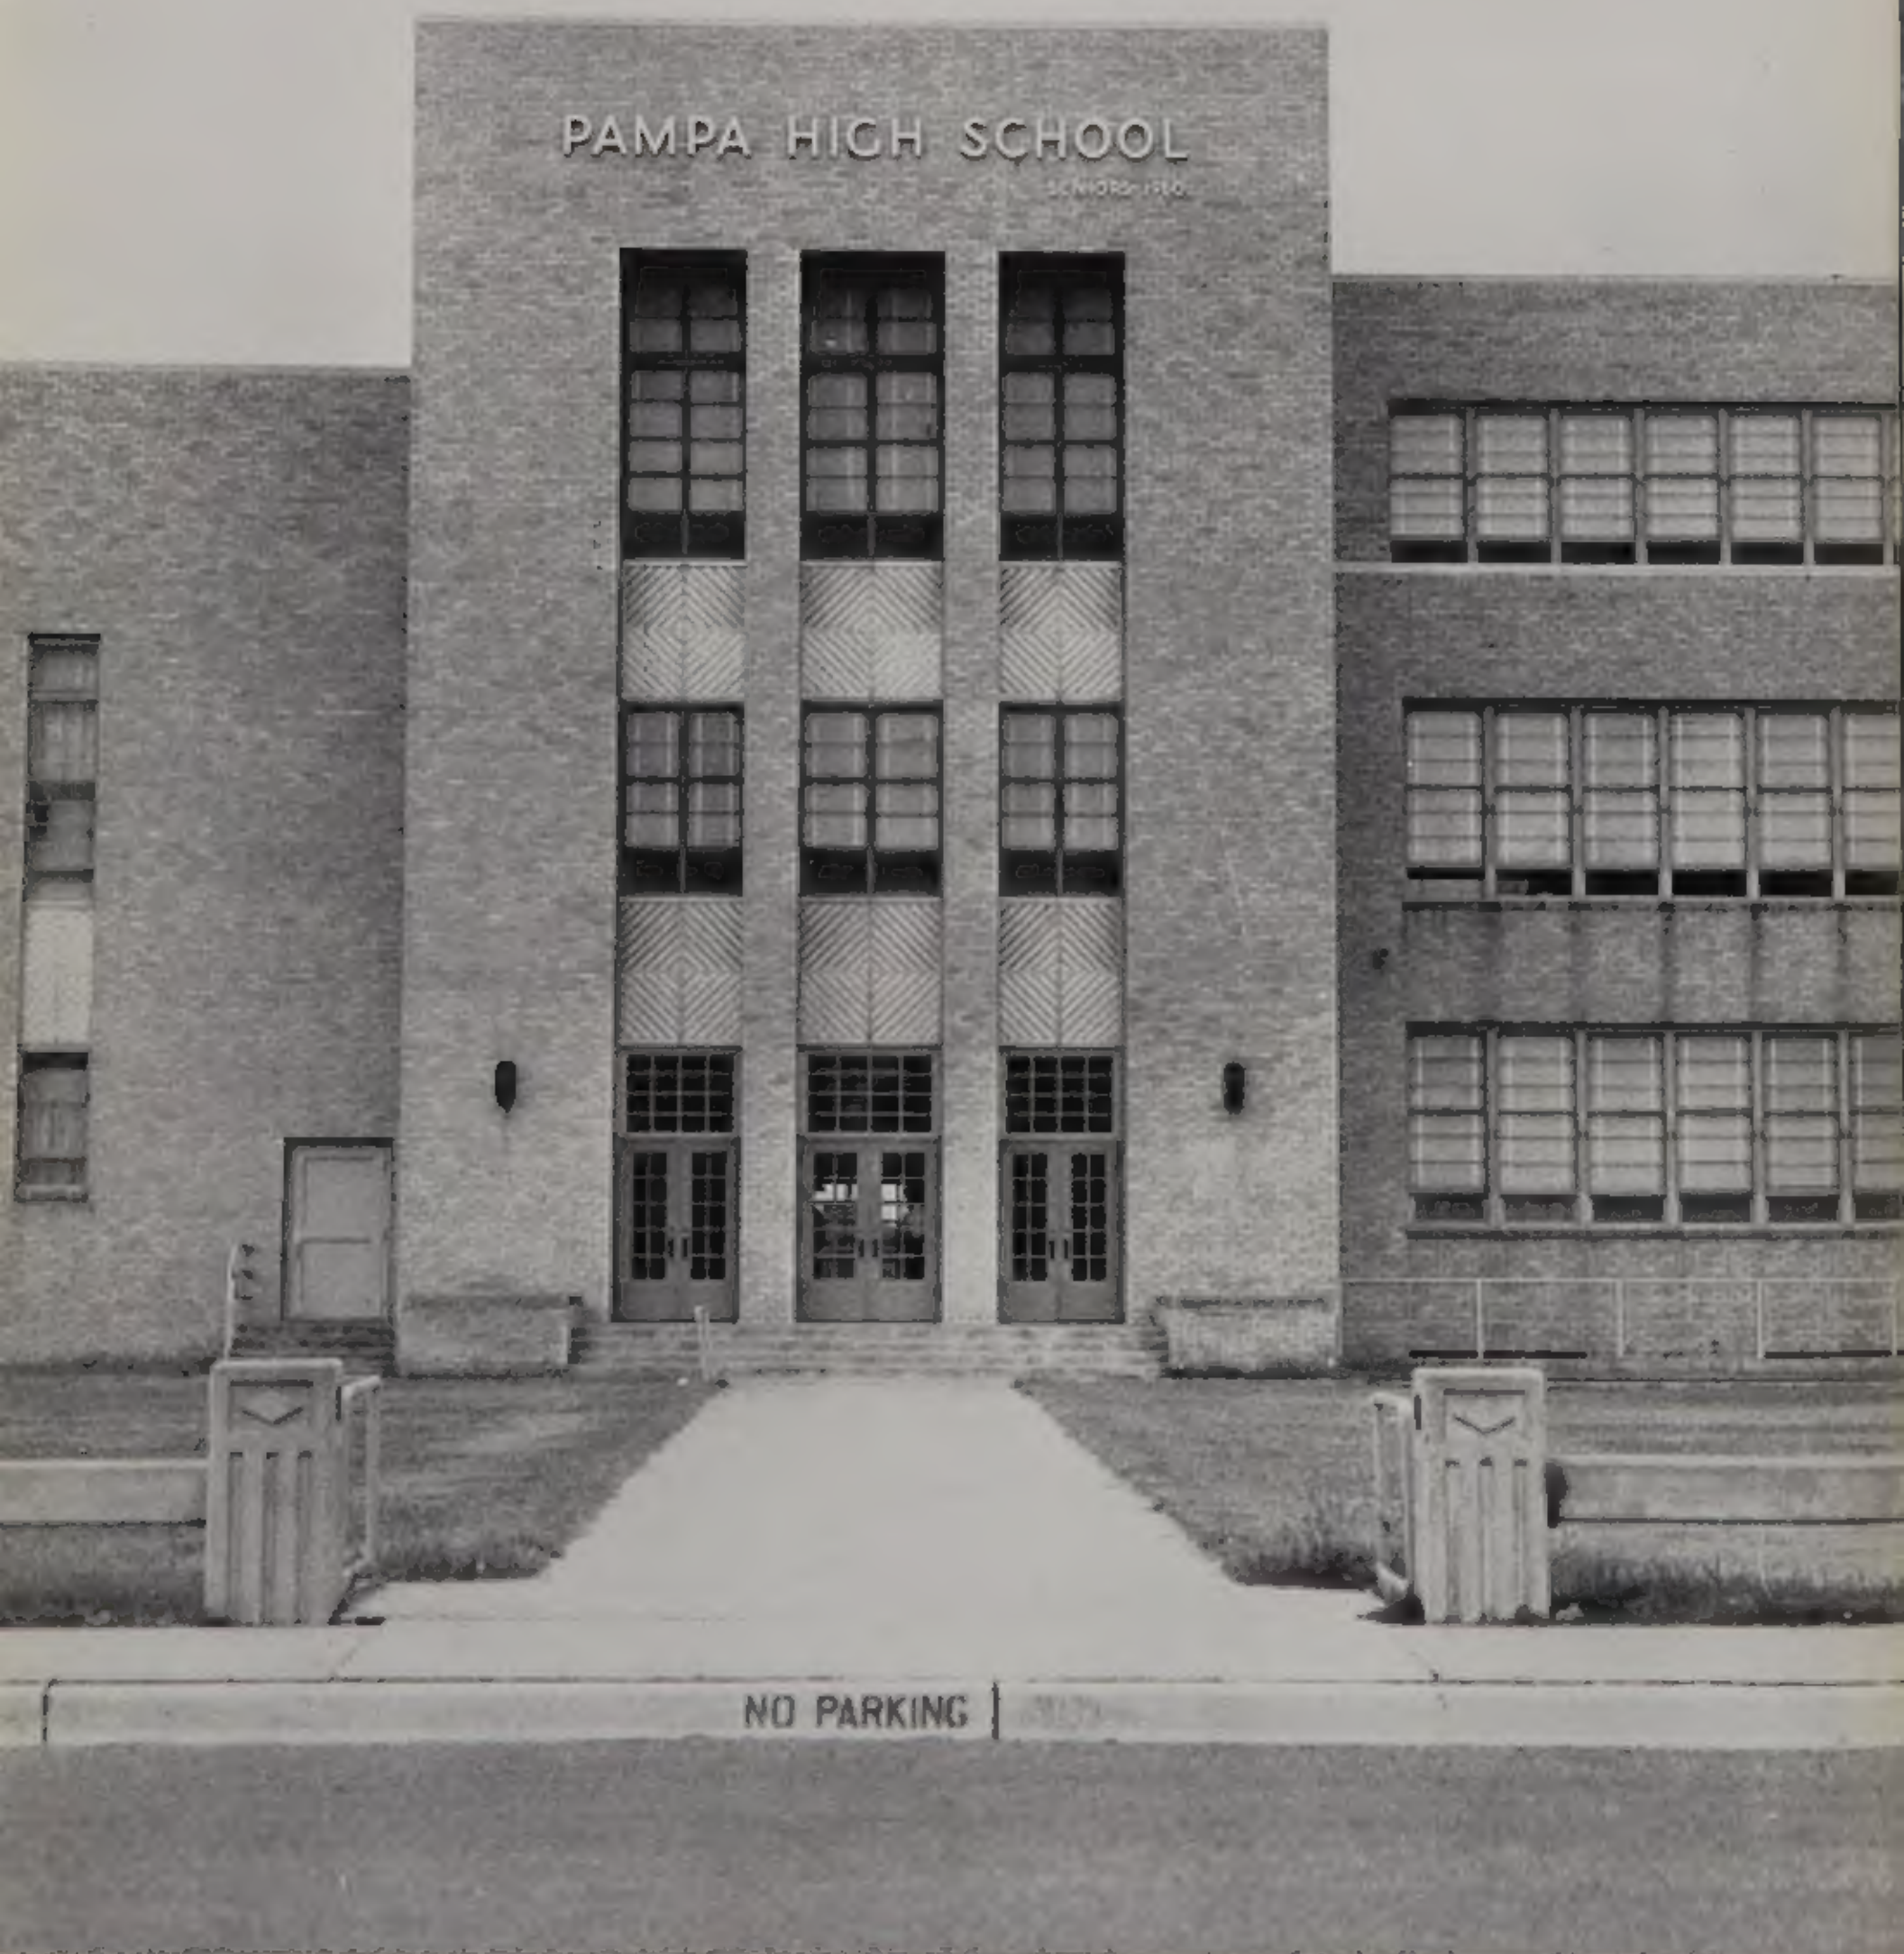

Mrs. Lula B. Owen

School Song

Dear Old Pampa High School, we're in love with you;
Dear Old Pampa High School, we will be true blue
Keep your colors flying as we stand by you —
Dear Old Pampa High School, we're in love with you.

Echo
of footsteps
Memory
of laughter

After a long day at school, students grab books from their lockers as they join the rush for home—and homework.

The cafeteria is the center of activity at noon as hungry students chat with friends and swallow their food hurriedly during the 30-minute lunch period.

Thrill of showtime Toil of studying

Always bustling with people, the auditorium is the scene of many assemblies during the year. Class plays and rehearsals, the choir musical, and performances by civic groups are among the activities that keep the auditorium occupied.

Before school students are often found completing their homework or studying for tests on one of the several flights of stairs in Pampa High's three-story (and basement) building.

Pride of achievement Glory of champions

The school co-op is the place where students buy school supplies, make payments on senior rings and graduation announcements, and buy football and basketball tickets—and where tests are stenciled for teachers. Cecelia McDonald, student assistant, sells a package of paper to Carson Snow while Mrs. John Woods, school secretary, looks up from her work.

In the counselor's office, Mrs. Ruby Capps keeps files of student test scores and information on colleges for students who plan ahead for their higher education. Here she assists John Holloway in selecting courses to meet college entrance requirements.

Looking at the P.H.S. trophy case, Joyce Prock is amazed at the number of awards captured throughout the years by school organizations and individuals.

Love
of literature
Wonder
of wisdom

A virtual "information and complaint" center, the main office attracts students who need to change schedules, to become certified for graduation, or to seek answers to puzzling questions. Mrs. M. E. Webb, registrar, helps Diane Burns change her schedule.

The library, on the third floor, contains reference books and periodicals for research themes and term papers, as well as a vast supply of novels for book reports.

Sound of music Flow of words

Don Cobb, Bobby Whatley and Gordon Bayless diligently rehearse their numbers for band while John Goes practices on his tuba. The band room at the west end of the building is rarely empty as many band students spend much of their spare time there.

The journalism and publications room is the hub of activity for students working on the annual and the weekly school newspaper, The Little Harvester, as they battle regular deadlines.

Bill Mangham, Marvin Robinson, Wayne Pursley and James Shelton gather around the piano in the choir room to polish up one of the numbers they do as a quartet.

Pursuit of knowledge Rigors of exercise

Examining the atomic structure of two crystals of salt are Ray Wagner, Hank Henry and Cecil Biggers. Many hours of experimentation are spent in this chemistry laboratory.

The milling machine used by students in the metal trades department intrigues Steve Smiley, William Shaw and Gerry Gruver.

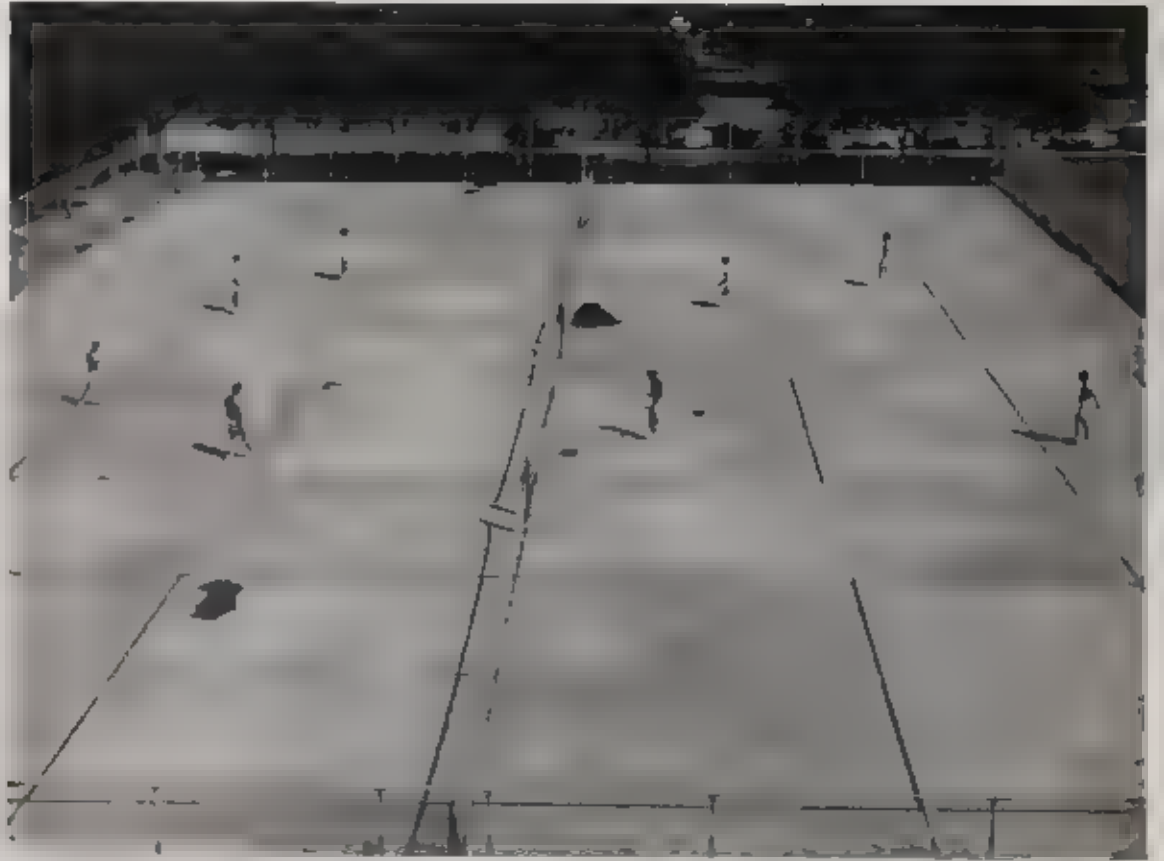

Carol Enloe enjoys exercise on the trampoline while the other girls in her physical education class wait their turn.

Keenness of rivalry Spirit of contest

Fight, Harvesters, fight! This slogan can well express the feelings of students toward the action on the gridiron of Harvester stadium, the scene of exciting battles as Pampa High's football teams meet their foes.

Some Pampa High students prefer to spend their hours of exercise on the four tennis courts when the weather permits.

Located west of the football stadium, the baseball diamond is the center of sports activities in the spring.

Silence
of solitude
Feelings
of familiarity

Vocational agriculture and metal trades students learn their skills in the newest building on campus, Vocational and Agriculture Building.

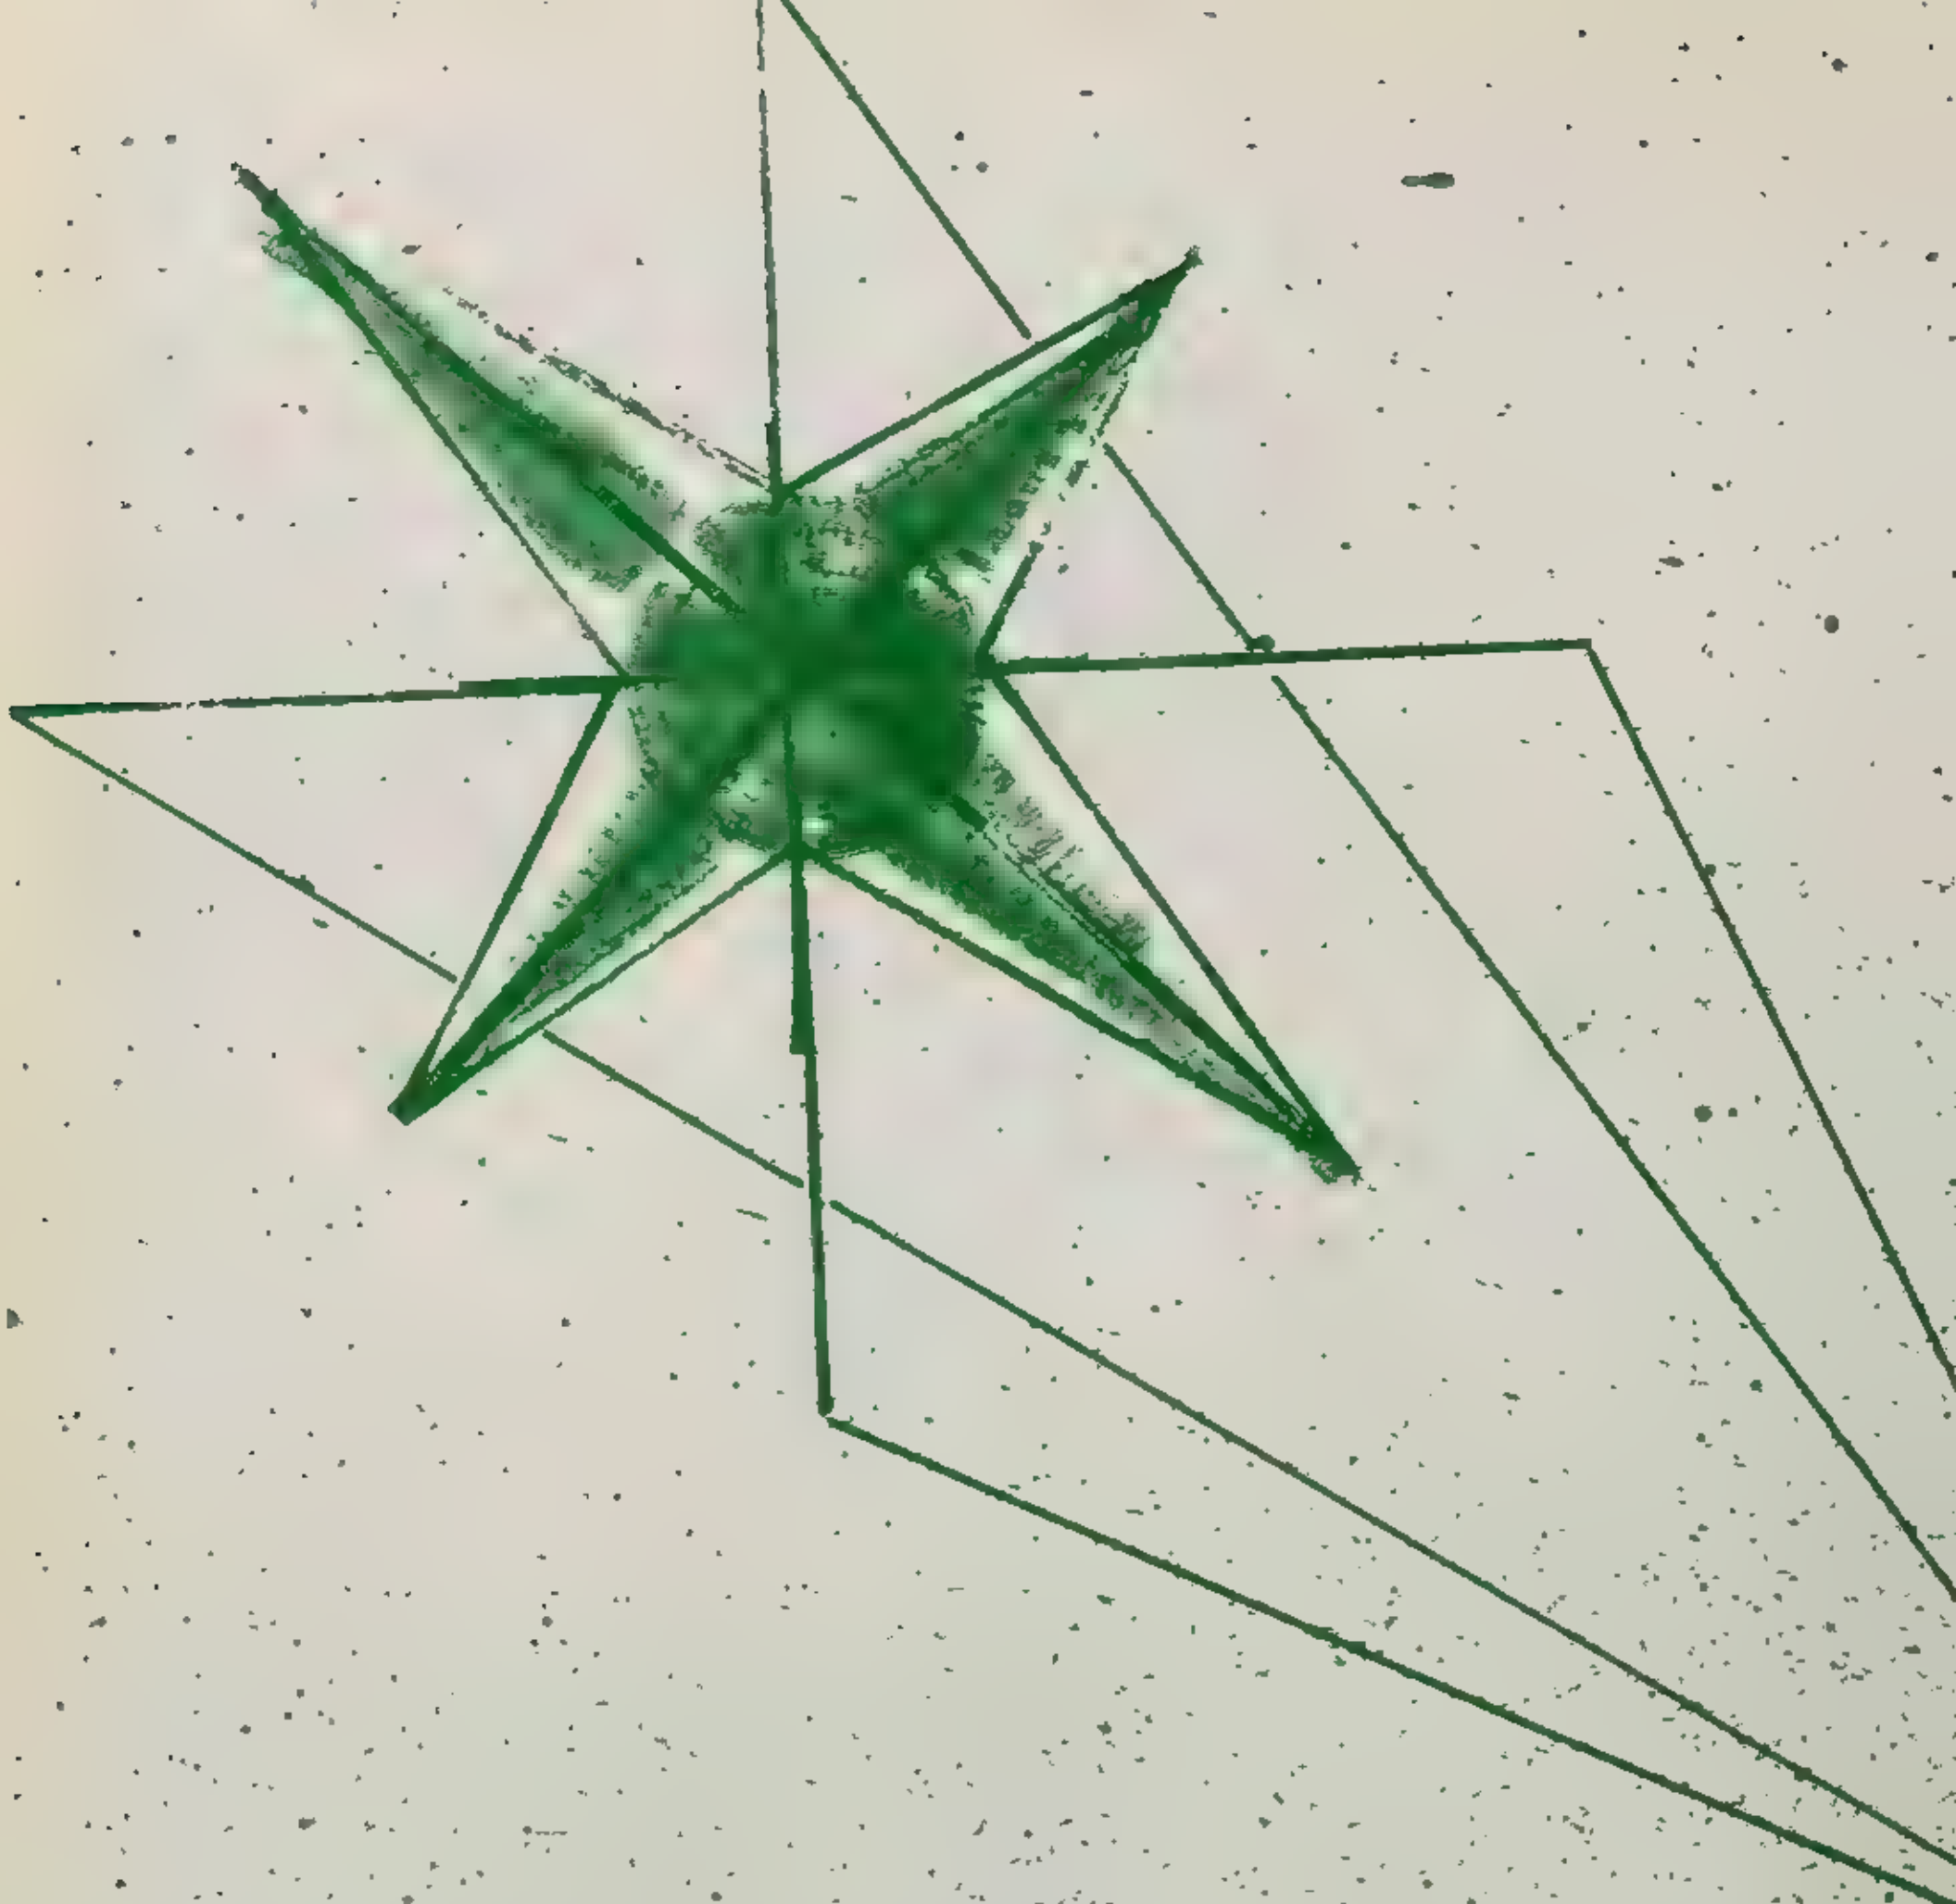

Harvester fieldhouse not only houses the Hustling Harvester basketball team but is also the scene of pep rallies, talent shows, and graduation exercises.

Usually filled to its 200-car capacity by students and teachers who drive to school, the spacious parking lot at Pampa High is located north of the building.

Students Face Choice Of Various Careers

Pampa High's fifth annual Career Clinic was held February 20. The clinic consisted of 72 sessions in two groups of roundtables of 55 minutes each, ranging from farmer to theater and motion pictures.

At a breakfast for the consultants, Bette Malone, public relations worker for United Van Lines, was the principal speaker. Vice-president of the Great American of Dallas insurance agency, Ed Speer, was the inspirational speaker at the opening assembly.

The Little Harvester published a special twenty-page Career Clinic edition, of which Key Club members distributed 2,000 copies throughout the city.

Dr. Robert C. Busteed of West Texas State College, consultant for the scientist group, confers with Wayne Hawkins, student leader, before his session

Mrs. Otto Mangold, Robert E. Lee Junior High science teacher, discusses secondary teaching opportunities.

Carey Nesbet and J. M. Holloway of Mahen's of Lubbock, whole-sale florist supply company, talk with Mrs. Dona Cornutt, Pampa High registrar and Altrusa coordinator.

Mr. Ed Speer, vice-president of Great American of Dallas, an insurance agency, speaks at the opening assembly of the Career Clinic. His topic was "Man of Decision."

Ray Wagner, junior, proudly displays his 1962 science project, "Microbial Fluorescence." Ray won first place in the boys' botany division in the Regional Science Fair with this project last year.

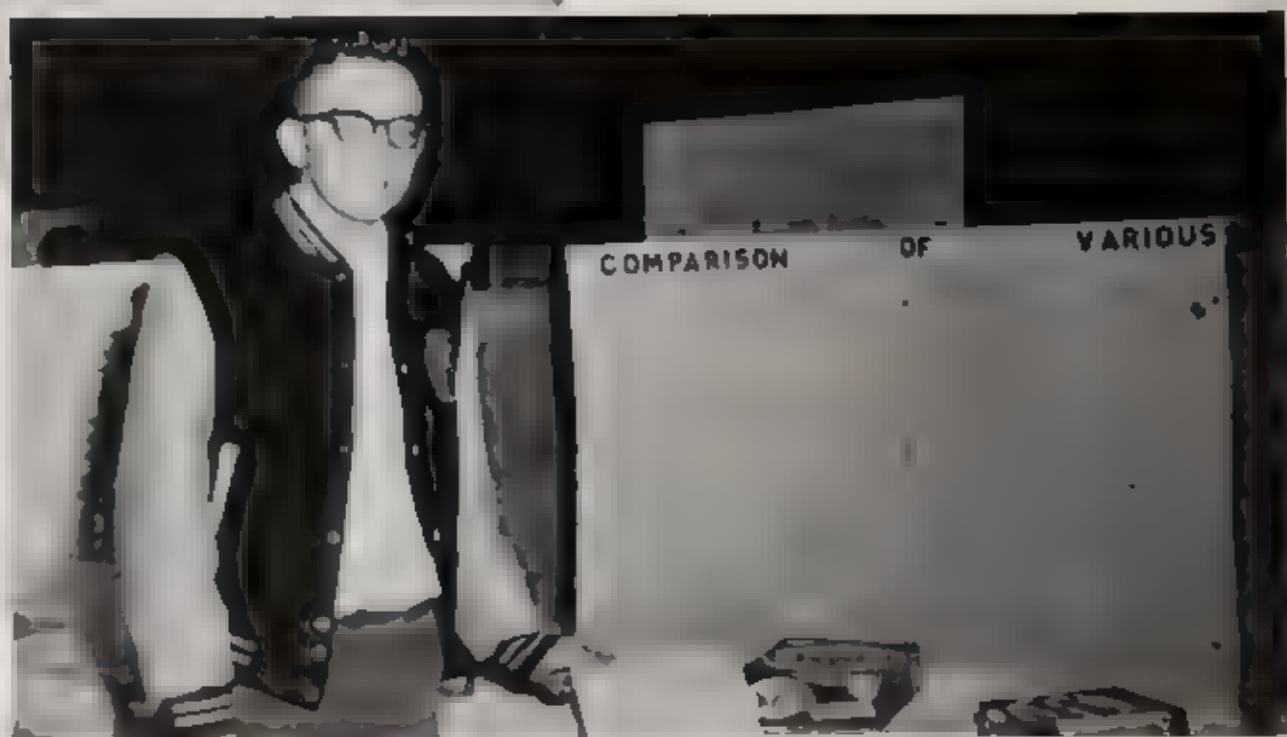

Roger Merrill, senior, shows his 1962 project, "Effect of Human Sexual Hormones on White Rats." This project won Roger a third place award in the boys' medicine and health division at the 1962 regional fair.

With his "Infinitesimal Particles from Finite Quantities Through Math," Edwin Albers, senior, won first place in the boys' mathematics and computers division on the regional level in 1962. He also received a scholarship, given by the Amarillo Rotary Club, to the Junior Engineer and Scientists' Summer Institute at New Mexico State University for the summer of 1962.

Fair Exhibits Science Work

The sixth annual Pampa Science Fair was held in the girls' gym March 1 and 2. The fair was limited to 375 projects divided into seven groups. Projects were entered in botany, medicine and health, zoology, chemistry and bio-chemistry, and math and computers.

James Shelton, senior, poses by his 1962 project which received an honorable mention in the boys' chemistry and bio-chemistry division. His project was entitled, "Effects and Cleaning Power of Detergents on Hands, Dishes, and Clothes."

Upperclassmen Enroll

The air was charged with excitement as the 1963 seniors entered the girls' gym to receive schedule cards for the last time. Perhaps a little nostalgia touched them as they watched the bewildered sophomores wandering through the halls. Adding to the confusion and excitement of the first day were the shrieks and smiles of the mighty seniors as they received their badges of distinction—senior rings.

Seniors Share Year

For the past three years Pampa has been fortunate to have had six American Field Service exchange students in the ranks of the Senior Classes.

Turan Soylemez of Turkey and Luisa Prieto of Spain are members of the Class of '63. Norway, Italy, Sweden and Greece have had student representatives in P.H.S. the previous two years.

Career Advice Given

The fifth annual Career Clinic was held February 20, when seventy-two consultants advised students on job opportunities. The clinic is a half-day program held each year to allow students to become acquainted with the many different fields of employment and professions open to today's youth.

Science Fair Grows

The Pampa Science Fair was held March 1 and 2. Once again the girls' gymnasium housed the various exhibits placed by entrants from all Pampa schools.

Six students have represented Pampa at the National Science Fair during the last seven years. The local fair has increased from 265 entries at its origin to 428 in 1962, but lack of space this year forced a reduction to 375.

Midnight Oil Burns

This year twenty-two seniors were initiated into National Honor Society in an assembly ceremony March 13. Each year fifteen per cent of the Senior Class may be elected to membership on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service.

All seniors and juniors having an average of 85 or above are eligible, and members are chosen by votes of the teachers.

Registration Begins New Year for Juniors

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y, that's the junior battle cry!" Juniors join cheerleaders and other students in cheering for the "Fighting Harvesters" at a football pep rally in October at the field house.

Registration and schedule changes started the junior on his road to upper-classman status. Although he usually was considered in the middle of things, he was preparing all the while for his last big step as a senior. Keith Riemer, Richard Rexroat and Carol Chase were the class leaders.

Coming to school the first day, the junior found "his" school just as he had left it the year before, with the exception of many new faces that made up the class he had just left. The halls seemed more crowded this year, and the five minutes between classes seemed shorter.

Junior Class Boosts Spirit of Harvesters

School spirit was boosted by the junior cry at pep rallies and games as they tried to outyell the seniors and sophomores. "We're the class they all adore; we're the Class of '64" was their victory cry as the Fighting Harvesters won over the Sandies for the second year.

Betty Brown and Terry and Jerry Edmondson were junior cheerleaders who supported the football and basketball teams during their wins and losses. After each home game a dance was sponsored by Student Council at the Youth Center. Money was raised for the class by selling football programs before the games.

In the school library, juniors find material for history reports and English research themes, as well as books of fiction and non-fiction for required reading or pleasure. Sharon Haught and Sue Lyons use some of the many reference books in preparing a research paper.

Newcomers Welcomed At Gala Howdy Party

The proud junior welcomed the sophomores and other newcomers to "his" own P.H.S. at the Howdy Party. Kathy Larsen won a silver dollar as a result of her friendliness in saying "Howdy" to the right person—one of those carrying the silver dollars. Lamoyne Clark was among the four twirlers who performed at the party.

Dressed in western clothes, each junior brought out the true western spirit of Howdy Day. Such dance crazes as the Twist, the Hulley Gulley and the Mashed Potato left him dripping and exhausted when the festivities ended.

All-School Carnival Brightens Busy Year

Each junior supported his class at the All-School Carnival by helping with the class booth. The booth offered a chance for all student revelers to try their luck at throwing pennies into cups, with white elephant prizes going to the sharp shooters.

At the coronation that followed, four juniors were in the royal court as attendants to the King and Queen. Betty Brown was escorted by Ricky Stewart, while Keith Riemer escorted Kitty Gates. As a result of good-natured jokers, many students left school that night with the remains of cascarones in their hair.

New Subjects Prove Baffling to Juniors

After the first honor roll was announced, many juniors decided they needed to study more. Only twelve juniors made the list. Grades in such subjects as English III, American History, Plane Geometry and Chemistry lowered the averages of many juniors.

Some students burned their lights late into the night when they remembered "The Scarlet Letter" had to be read by the next day. The mock election will long be remembered by those who paid their five-cent poll taxes and others who tabulated votes in American History classes.

Theorems, corollaries, and definitions proved baffling the first six weeks, and each polygon remained a mystery when semester exams came around. Chemistry formulas and "unknowns" remained unknown to some when the year was over.

Juniors turn salesmen in competition with other classes. Patsy Rose sells a football program to a classmate, Darla Snow, before the Pampa-Tascosa football game in Pampa October 5.

Locker Visits Keep Students on the Run

Library and lockers were two main stops for the junior, who—it seemed to him—opened and closed his locker twenty times each day. Of those twenty times, the door must have been stuck at least three-fourths of the time.

From his locker the student would go to his homeroom, the cafeteria, the library or a stairway to get the homework he should have completed the night before. The first bell always rang too soon. Most students heard the second bell ring from their desks in their first period classes, but others not so lucky were caught in the halls when the last gong sounded.

Students Anticipate Twirp Week Activity

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to more interesting things than studying. He is challenged by the coming Twirp Season. This is the week when boys must fight for dates and sit near the phone waiting for its immortal ring. During this week each boy learned the true meaning of "all is fair in love and war."

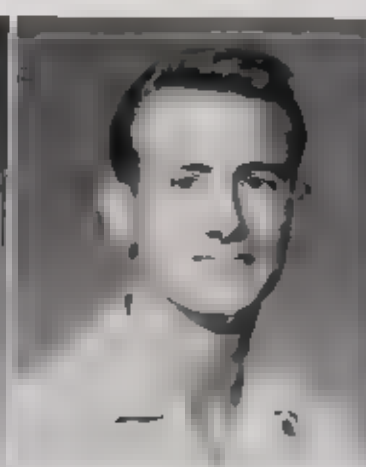

Of course, there are always two sides to everything, because each girl must go through the ordeal of arranging a date, obtaining a Twirp license and the key to "daddy's car," and—naturally—gathering all the courage she can muster to make the fateful call.

Boys particularly enjoy the week, because "the woman is requested to pay" for all entertainment.

Fibber McGee's closet has nothing on a typical school locker. Containing books, jackets, spray net, mirrors, candy, calendars—or whatever trash a student wants to get rid of in a hurry—the "dispose-alls" line the halls on both floors. Donna Vienneau, Sandy Tomson and Kenneth Hall retrieve books from their lockers between classes.

Registration Marks New Soph Frontier

August 29, 1962, ushered in a "new frontier" for sophomores as they started on the road that would lead to graduation. As the students assembled in the auditorium, seniors and juniors became aware of the 514 sophomores huddled in the balcony.

After the assembly, seniors, juniors and bewildered sophomores drifted through the crowded hall to the girls' gymnasium, where they received their schedule cards for the school year.

Seniors, Juniors Say Howdy to Sophomores

As the first full week drew to a close, sophomores anxiously anticipated their first high school event—the Howdy Party.

The sweet smell of hay added to the excitement of the new citizens, while the more experienced upperclassmen found the bales of hay, used in decorations to carry out the western theme, a welcome means of relaxing between rounds of the "Twist."

The moment of climax arrived! Cheers and applause greeted the announcement by Keith Swanson, student body president, that Pat Ludeman and Richard Fatheree were Mr. and Miss Howdy, and Ginger Hestand and Wendell Alexander were the best-dressed cowboy and cowgirl.

Fred Vanderburg struggles with the scholastic aptitude test taken by sophomores in the auditorium. The test was given to all sophomores to determine their ratings with other sophomores across the nation.

Election of Officers Spurs Class Activity

Sophomores first felt they had been accepted as high school students with the election of their class officers. Tested first by casting votes for their homeroom officers, the sophomores chose as their class leaders San Williams, president; Jim Arthur, vice-president; and Linda Cox, secretary. With qualified leaders, the sophomores were organized to play active roles in school life.

Homework Shelved For Carnival Gaiety

During the day of the carnival, sophomores donned shorts, jeans and sweatshirts to toil with cardboard, crepe paper and paint in fashioning what they hoped would be a prize-winning booth. When they were through, the cafeteria had been transformed into a colorful midway.

School Honor System Challenges Novices

Moving up to senior high school, sophomores found more freedom in school affairs. For the first time, they were given more of an opportunity to think for themselves. They were made to feel a personal responsibility for their successes or failures, with less supervision. "Honor the Honor System," one objective of Student Council, challenged sophomores as well as upperclassmen to discipline themselves in the classroom and at school functions.

Garry Jones rubs his tired feet, and Linda Hennig drops to the ground exhausted after two hours of marching. Robert DeWeese leans wearily against Garry.

Aptitude Tests Rate Mental Capabilities

Sophomores spent the first periods of Tuesday and Wednesday, September 25 and 26, taking the scholastic aptitude tests to determine their mental capabilities and ratings as compared with other sophomores in the United States.

The tests were given in the auditorium under the direction of Pampa High's counselor, Mrs. Ruby Capps, who was assisted by sophomore teachers.

Enthusiastic Sophs Look to Junior Year

So ends the sophomore year—one of struggle, hope, happiness, and fears. Sophomores may look back at the events of the year with clear pictures in their minds.

But now it is time to look forward to next year, when they will enter these halls as juniors. They will, as juniors, have a sense of accomplishment and belonging, knowing that they are full-fledged members of the Pampa High School community. Looking back at the bewilderment and uncertainty of the year, sophomores have memories to cherish as they continue along the highway of knowledge.

Superintendent and Board Share Executive Loads

Superintendent L. J. Edmondson converses on the phone about one of his many responsibilities as head of the Pampa School system.

Consisting of five members who are elected for alternating three-year terms, the Pampa Board of Education is responsible for approving the employment of teachers, the school curriculum and the annual budget for the Pampa Independent School District.

Superintendent L. J. Edmondson carries the weight of all school problems on his shoulders—from personnel to financing

R. D. Wilkerson, vice-president, and Dr. R. M. Hampton, president, of the Pampa School Board, check the agenda before a board meeting.

Discussing the school curriculum with McHenry Lane, curriculum coordinator, are H. C. Grady Jr., left, and Floyd Watson, right, board members.

The budget for the current year is being ed by John Gikas, left, school board secretary, and Homer Craig, business manager.

Always ready to lend assistance to teachers and students, Principal Cameron Marsh is often called upon to interpret school policies and philosophies. His job also entails public relations with community leaders and civic organizations.

Disciplinarian

Handling attendance and discipline problems whenever they arise—plus a multitude of other daily responsibilities—are the headaches of Assistant Principal Bill Cooper. He has introduced several new policies regarding absentees and disciplinary measures since he took over the position last year.

Main Offices Haven Of Records, Advice

Enrollment, class schedules, scholastic averages, and transcripts for graduating seniors are handled through the registrar's office.

The counselor is responsible for the administration of aptitude tests, college entrance examinations, and scholarship applications. She also advises students on college requirements and high school courses.

Records of school, club and activity financial accounts are kept in the Co-Op, where school supplies are sold and orders taken for class rings and graduation invitations. The school secretary, who supervises the Co-Op, also runs off stencils of tests for teachers and handles distribution of textbooks in the bookroom.

Students Increase Scientific Knowledge

Six Pampa High School science teachers endeavor to increase students' knowledge of general science, biology, chemistry and physics. Headed by Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, this department offers accelerated courses in biology and chemistry.

Fully-equipped laboratories are available for both classes, and students often can be found before and after school taking advantage of opportunities to use the special equipment.

Harold Burgess, 1962 graduate, was Pampa's fifth Regional Science Fair winner in six years to advance to the national fair. Five others placed in regional last year. Ray Wagner, junior, and Edwin Albers, senior, this year, placed first in their divisions.

English is Essential Phase of Education

The English Department, headed by Mr. Aubra Nooncaster, consists of ten qualified teachers of grammar and literature. An essential phase of education and learning, the study of English is required in Pampa High School for three years, with a fourth year recommended for pre-college seniors.

Accelerated courses are offered on all three grade levels in both grammar and literature for students who qualify.

The Male Choir, organized this year, meets before school for boys who could not devote a class period to the activity.

Department Offers Varied Math Courses

Headed by Mr. B. G. Gordon, the Math Department offers courses in general math, business arithmetic, advanced arithmetic, Algebra I, II and III, plane and solid geometry, trigonometry and analytics.

Although only two years of mathematics are required for graduation, students planning to enter college are encouraged to complete three or four years.

Trigonometry Rigors Help Build Thinkers

$$\tan \frac{1}{2}A = \frac{\sin B \cos C + \cos B \sin C}{1 - \cos B \cos C + \sin B \sin C}$$

How many students graduating from Pampa High School could solve this problem? Very few, because only a small fraction of students brave the mental rigors of trigonometry.

Courses such as trigonometry and analytics prepare students for college mathematics and science studies. Such courses also inspire students to think and analyze in logical patterns.

Students Acquire Appreciation of Art

Not only students with artistic talent but others interested in acquiring an appreciation of art as well as various artistic skills may enroll in any of the five courses offered in the Art Department.

Students work with oils, water colors, charcoals, chalks and pen and ink, while others learn the art of enameling, jewelry making, wood carving and mosaic work.

Showcases in the school and exhibits in Lovett Memorial Library display student work.

Government Teaches How Nation Operates

Current events as well as ancient history are studied by students enrolled in social science courses in the History Department, headed by Miss Madge Rusk.

World, Texas and American history, sociology and government are offered; however, only world and American history and government are included in the two and one-half history credits required for graduation.

In today's strife-torn world, the study of how the American system of constitutional government is organized and operates helps students to have a better understanding of world and national problems, as well as those on state and local levels.

History Students Learn Famous Dates

1492 - 1775 1812 - 1865 — 1917 — 1945. Any American history student who does not know these dates might as well check out. Famous documents, battles and peacetime progress made by the United States from the early colonial days through the Industrial Revolution on to the Space Age today are studied by students of American history.

Sociology—a study of human problems and relations—offers students an opportunity to learn how to better understand the people with whom they live, as well as the cultures of people over the world.

Speech Students Gain Dramatic Experience

Confidence in speaking before groups and experience in organizing, delivering and criticizing various types of speeches; history of the drama and experience in appearing in dramatic productions. These are some of the practical benefits of courses offered in the speech department. These courses are Speech I, II and III, as well as Drama I, II and III.

Commercial Courses Offer Basic Training

Typing, shorthand and bookkeeping are some of the skills taught in the Commercial Arts Department, headed by Mrs. J. C. Pattillo.

Students planning to enter secretarial, bookkeeping, business, or law fields may enroll in courses designed to give them basic training.

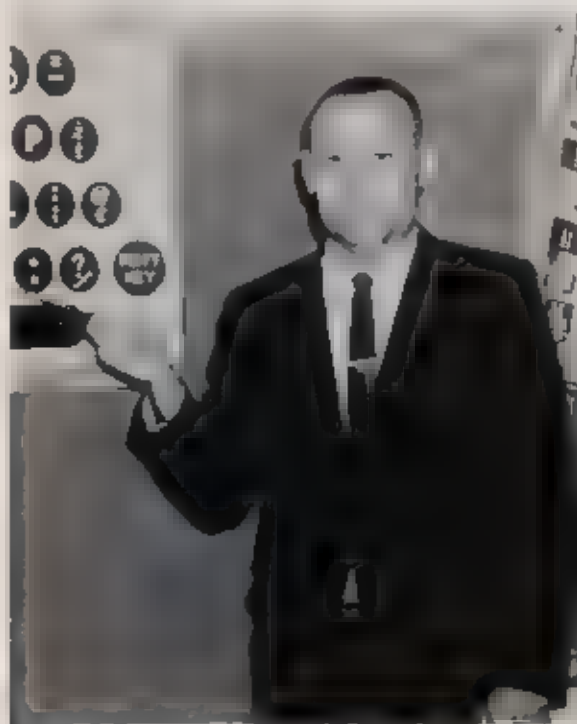

Business law, sales, clerical practice, general business courses are offered in addition to the typing, bookkeeping and secretarial training courses.

Foreign Languages Offer Handy Phrases

"Ego te amo"—"Yo te amo"—"Je t'aime." These phrases may come in handy during after-school hours for students enrolled in classes in the Foreign Language Department. "I love you" is the same in any language.

Headed by Miss Virginia Vaughan, this department offers two years of Latin, Spanish and French for students interested in speaking foreign tongues. For some, this knowledge may prove beneficial if they enter career fields that take them to other countries.

Spanish can be a rewarding experience, as revealed to Charles Yahne, Guy Cloud and Tommy Shipman as they listen to their pronunciation of the Spanish language, recorded by Miss Virginia Vaughan.

Journalism Provides Publications Training

Always a busy area with deadlines almost daily, the Journalism Department offers courses that teach students qualities of dependability, accuracy and initiative, as well as provide training in writing for publication.

Miss Elizabeth Hurley teaches classes in journalism and advertising and also supervises work on the Harvester yearbook and Little Harvester, weekly newspaper.

Staffs of the two publications gain experience in journalistic writing, editing and makeup; advertising layout design and sales; business and circulation procedures; and photography.

Vocational Students Learn Helpful Skills

Industrial arts students are offered courses in leatherwork, general drafting and woodworking. In leathercraft classes, students learn to make belts, notebooks and other items embossed with intricate designs.

Drafting students are taught to make accurate blueprints, while woodworking students build various types of tables, chairs, desks and bookcases.

The Vocational and Agriculture Building houses the metal trades and vocational agriculture classes. In metal trades, students learn to operate several kinds of machinery.

Fitness Test Required In Physical Education

At the present time, students already in high school are required to take only one year of physical education. However, beginning with this year's freshmen, two credits of physical education and health will be required.

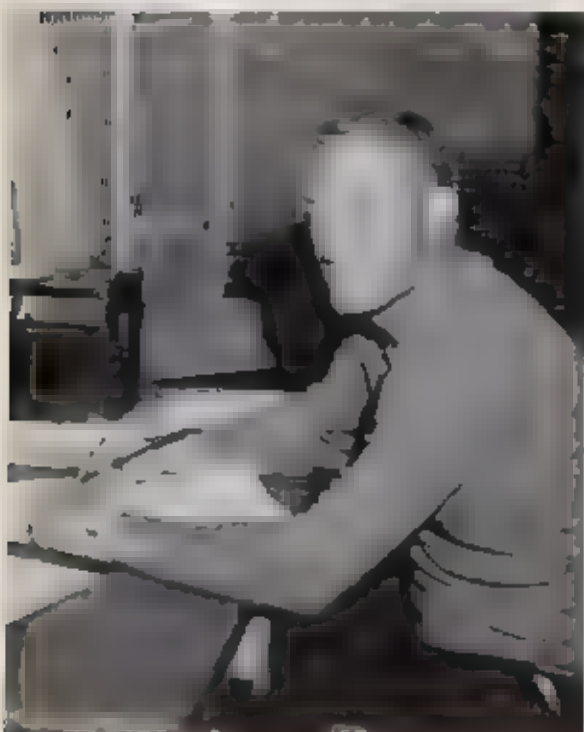

Of these two credits, one-half credit is given for health, taught as a classroom subject. Each student also is required to take a physical fitness test as a part of the nationwide program introduced by President John F. Kennedy.

Teachers Relax, Work Away From Classroom

Before and after school or during their conference periods, teachers who are not working in their classrooms may usually be found in one of three places—the teachers' lounge, the cafeteria, or the main office.

As a diversion from the classroom, the teachers' lounge offers pleasant surroundings for relaxation, grading papers, typing test stencils, or reading. They may get a welcome cup of coffee in the cafeteria.

In the main office they check their faculty boxes and daily bulletin announcements—or confer with the principal about school problems.

Checking in for the long school day ahead, Mr. E. L. Albritton, Howard Graham and Mr. J. M. Thompson read the daily announcements in the main office.

Before school some teachers may be found daily in the cafeteria savoring a cup of coffee.

Relaxing in the teachers' lounge during their conference period are Miss Claudia Everly, Wendell Watson, Miss Helen Schafer, Ronald Rice and Bill Cooper.

Miss Madge Rusk picks up her mail and class roll cards from her faculty box in the registrar's office.

Standing by the familiar stack of trays in the cafeteria is Mrs. Roy Kigore, who has been manager of the cafeteria staff for 18 years.

Cooking, Cleaning Keep Two School Staffs Busy

Always hurried and harried, an efficient staff operates the non-profit school cafeteria in such a way as to give students the most nourishing meals at the lowest possible cost.

Students may purchase hot plate lunches or go to the snack bar for a sandwich and variety of candies, potato chips, cookies or other desserts. Lunch usually includes meat, two vegetables, salad, dessert, bread and milk.

The maintenance staff keeps busy each day cleaning and sweeping the halls and classrooms, as well as the cafeteria and gymnasiums.

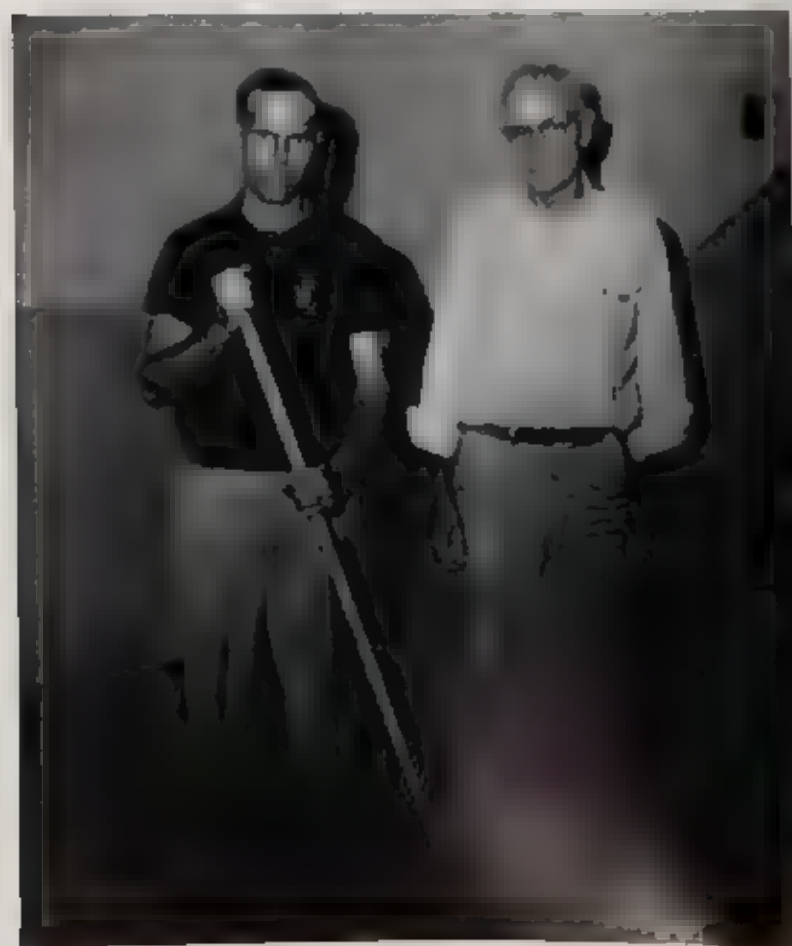

Mrs. Janie Becker, Mrs. Winnie Slaten, Mrs. Neva Ayres, Mrs. E. L. Albritton and Mrs. Joyce Shoulders prepare to cook steaks for a Thursday meal.

Mrs. Helen Lunsford and Mrs. Ellen Swindle prepare to make yeast rolls for the noon lunch.

Gathering their brooms before starting their daily cleanup routine are A. M. Barnes, Floyd Letroy, T. A. Rush and Scott Jones. E. C. Kemper was not present when the picture was taken.

Barney R. Riley, "chief" of the fieldhouse maintenance, talks with Bill Smith, maintenance supervisor.

School-spirited P.H.S. teachers, Mrs. Ross Baird, Ronald Rice, Miss Helen Schafer, Miss Bernice Franklin and Mrs. John Woods, enjoy a visit during halftime at a basketball game in the Harvester fieldhouse

Hobbies, School Events Occupy Teachers' Time

P.H.S. faculty members participate in many school activities besides their classroom duties. Loyal teachers can be found at club meetings, sports events and generally wherever there are students to be assisted, taught or supported.

Teachers, too, have hobbies which occupy their spare time. Mr. Sikes, for instance, is often in the P.H.S. darkroom working on photography. Mr. Aubra Nooncaster enjoys tinkering with his stereo and tape recordings in his leisure hours. Seeing teachers relaxing with their hobbies helps students to realize that their classroom instructors are also human beings who enjoy relaxation as much as do their pupils.

Serve School

Thirteen boys and ten girls, other than the Best Citizens and runners-up, received votes for the honor. The other boys nominated were Edwin Albers, Dee Allen, Donnie Ayres, Jon Gillpatrick, Jerry Glover, John Holloway, John Mann, Randy Matson, Ralph Palmer, Howard Reed, Don Sears, Tommy Veale and Dee Wright.

Other girls nominated were Tommie Babcock, Pat Chandler, DeAnn Drew, Betty Enright, Anne Evans, Gloria Langford, Candy Noblitt, Sally Paden, Sue Price and Sheri Walker.

Keith Swanson, student body president, speaks to the student body before an assembly.

Presenting Student Council objectives at the orientation assembly is Janie Thompson, student body vice-president.

Council Heads Travel To Meet in Virginia

Six Pampa High School students represented the Student Council in Richmond, Virginia, at the Southern Association of Student Councils in late October this year. The group included Keith Swanson, SC president, Janie Thompson, SC vice-president, Linda Key, secretary, Richard Fatheree, Sophomore Representative, Turan Soylemez and Luisa Prieto, foreign exchange students, and Miss Bernice Franklin, sponsor.

At the convention they attended discussions concerning problems of Student Council and leadership. They also toured Williamsburg, Yorktown, and Washington, D. C., where they saw the capitol, Jefferson and Lincoln Memorials and the Smithsonian Institution.

'Howdy' Week Starts Busy Council Year

Beginning with the Howdy Party before the 1962-63 school year got really underway, Student Council worked hard to successfully complete another busy year.

Besides the Howdy Party, SC sponsored a weekly Morning Watch (a devotional period for all students), booster tag and football program sales, assembly programs, promotions of the All-School Carnival and talent show, White Christmas gifts and homeroom door decorations, entertainment of the faculty with a registration-day coffee and assistance with the annual homecoming activities.

"Go, Harvesters, go!" yell Turan and Luisa in a burst of pride for the fighting Harvesters.

Exchange Students Share Student Life

Sharing the 1962-63 school year with PHS students as American Field Service exchange students were Turan Soylemez, from Istanbul, Turkey, and Luisa Prieto, from Madrid, Spain.

During his stay in Pampa, Turan lived with Tommy Veale, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Veale, while Luisa made her home with Cynthia Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morgan.

As his first semester schedule at PHS, Turan chose trigonometry, English III-GA, general drafting, speech, physics and American history. Luisa elected speech, choir, typing, government, English III-GA and American history.

Luisa and Turan enjoy carnival activities offered at the Sophomore "Li'l Las Vegas" booth.

Luisa and Turan ponder over a sample ballot for the Mock Election. Neither was accustomed to free election in their homeland.

Luisa, Turan Active In School Affairs

A speaker of three languages—German, English, and Turkish—Turan participated in many activities during his stay in Pampa. He was interested in becoming a cowboy while he was in Texas and also traveled with the Veale family to Red River several times on skiing trips. Turan was elected All-School Pin-up by his fellow students this year.

Luisa, who also spoke three languages—French, English and Spanish—sang in the A Cappella Choir and participated in its musical production “Where’s Charlie?”

Both Luisa and Turan spent an eventful year in our midst and won the hearts of all Pampa High students with their friendliness and enthusiasm.

Luisa and Turan talk with their new American friends Cynthia Morgan, Keith Swanson and Tommy Veale in front of the school following registration.

"Come on, Harvesters, yell!" the husky voice of head cheerleader Tommie Babcock urges students in familiar pep rally scene

Cheering the Harvesters on to victory, enthusiastic students yell and clap to a familiar chant.

Editors-in-chief of Little Harvester and Harvester publications, Gail Cole and Phyllis Delsing, explain sales and picture procedures at the opening assembly.

Key Clubbers Present Flags

In one of the most impressive assemblies of the year, the Key Club presented the school with fifty United States flags, fifty Texas flags and copies of famous national documents to be placed in homerooms. These documents included the Declaration of Independence, the Preamble to the Constitution and the Gettysburg Address.

A talent assembly previewed the annual talent show, and a Christmas program was presented by the A Cappella Choir.

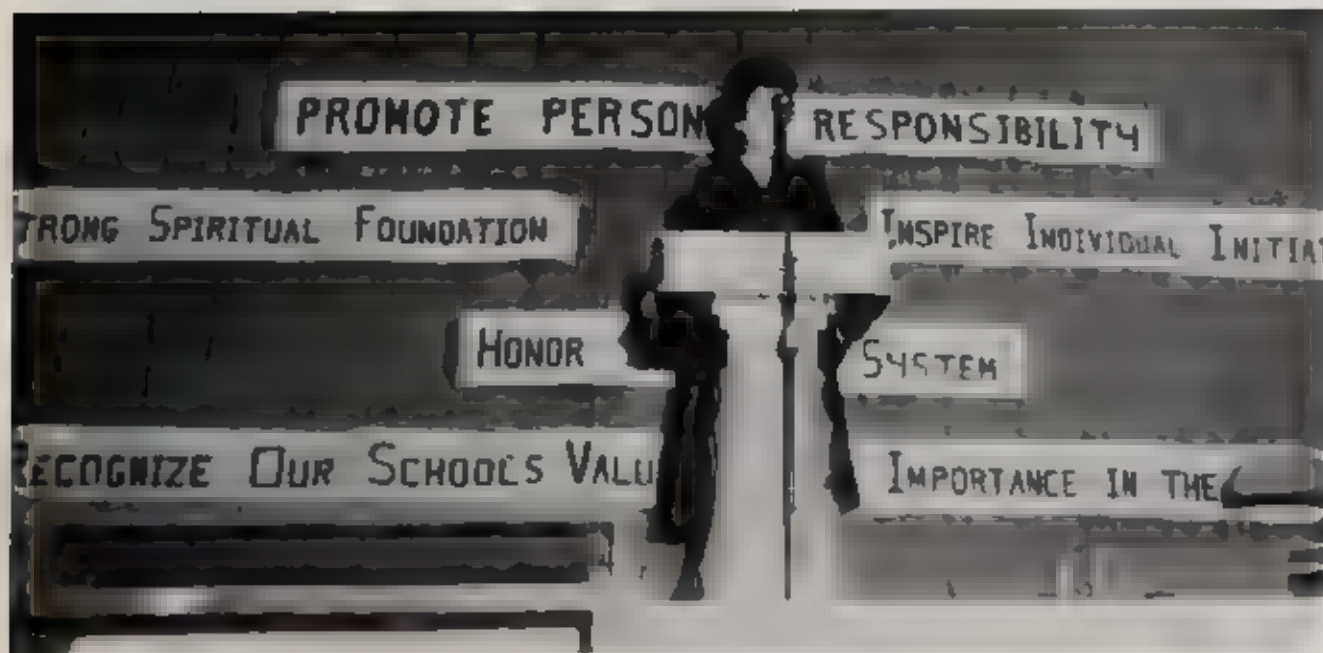

Key Club members line up across the stage in a colorful parade as they present the school with fifty United States flags and fifty Texas flags to be placed in homerooms.

Among the Senior Day activities is new group of cheerleaders sporting baggy dresses and hairy legs, who entertained students while representing the famed Class of '63.

The talented hands of Johnlyn Mitchell skim across the keys to present a performance of skill and artistry at the Talent Assembly.

Presenting the Student Council theme and objectives for the year, student body vice-president Janie Thompson speaks at the orientation assembly.

Council Goals Set for Year

At the first assembly of the year, Student Council presented its theme, "Promote Personal Responsibility" and four objectives. Speeches were made by all SC officers, and the two foreign exchange students were presented to the student body.

Fun and Merriment Fill School Carnival

Confetti eggs, crepe paper, fun and merriment -all these things contributed to the gay atmosphere of the All-School Carnival held in the school cafeteria September 29. Energetic students worked all day of the carnival setting up booths for the exciting night ahead, and it was a noisy and fun-loving group that filled the basement when the festivities began.

Seniors Wayne Kreis, Sue Price, Sheridan Walker, Johnny Weatherly Wilbur Walls, Francine Forrester and senior English teacher Ancel Joyner enjoy hospitality at the second-place senior booth.

Future Nurse Jan Little serves Sharon Smith, Ronald Sweet and Gerald Burkett in the club's winning "Magnolia Manor."

Excited students line up at the Junior Classical League marriage and cotton candy booth.

Booths Place In Competition

Receiving first place in the booth competition at the All-School Carnival was the Future Nurses' "Magnolia Manor" Booth, housed in the film room and offering candy, cookies, and other such treats.

Taking second place was the Senior Red Garter Saloon, which included authentic entertainment of dancing girls and a honky-tonk piano.

Copping the third place was the Junior Classical League's marriage and cotton candy booth.

Royalty Entertained At School Carnival

Midst a "Pocketful of Rainbows," the Carnival King and Queen and other royalty were entertained by Paula Sealy, who danced to the music from "West Side Story;" Jack Nichols singing "Pocketful of Rainbows;" and Ernie Lawrence singing "Girl of My Dreams." Elayne Thornburg accompanied the entertainers.

With Don Sears as master of ceremonies, Tammy Cox and Pat Prichard, members of the kindergarten set, presented a red rose to each lady of the court, a dozen roses to the queen, and crowns to the reigning monarchs.

Annual Show Spots Talent

PHS was filled with talented students in 1963, and many of them performed before students and adults at the annual talent show held in the fieldhouse during the early spring. Admirers of talent were entertained by singers, dancers, comedians, piano players and various other performers at another successful talent show.

First place winner, room 105, wished Harvesters "Merry Christmas" with its golden tree trimmed with decorations representing different organizations of the school.

Room 100 won third place for its pink and blue representation of the twelve days of Christmas.

With stained glass windows and ever green trim, room 211 received an honorable mention in the competition.

Christmas Trimmings Brighten School Halls

Tinsel and lights decorated the halls celebrating the Christmas season, as students and teachers alike prepared for the holidays. The focal point of the decorations was the huge Christmas tree in the center hall, where the white Christmas baskets were gathered for needy families of the area.

Turan and Anne enjoy leisure time looking as handsome as usual.

RANDY MATSON

All-School Favorite

Randy Matson, senior, was elected All School Favorite by the 1962-1963 student body. Randy, an avid sportsman, played football and basketball, as well as being a star trackster. Also an intelligent student, Randy was a two-year member of the National Honor Society.

Honor Club Promotes Leadership and Service

Two year members the officers and other members pictured above, were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service.

The fifteen senior members comprise five per cent of last year's Junior Class, chosen by a secret vote of the faculty. Being selected as a member of National Honor Society is one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a student of Pampa High School.

Junior members who were initiated March 13 are, KNEELING, Lamoyne Clark and Betty Brown FRONT ROW: Carol Chase, Jerry Edmondson, Kathy Larsen, Ann Qualls, Cynthia Morgan, Judie Raley, Martha Pattillo, Susan Carr. BACK ROW: Clive Seymour, Ricky Goodwin, Joe Fischer, Don Rexroad, Ray Wagner and Myron Aftergut.

Candy Noblitt, Johnlyn Mitchell, Gail Cole, Susie Filman

Society Stimulates Better Scholarship

To create enthusiasm in scholarship, stimulate a desire to render service, promote leadership, and develop mature citizens from the students of Pampa High School are the purposes of the National Honor Society.

NHS was organized in 1930 with nine seniors and five junior members. As the school grew, the membership increased. All seniors and juniors who have a grade average of 85 are eligible for selection as a member. Each year five per cent of the Junior Class and fifteen per cent of the Senior Class are initiated.

Annual activities of the club include initiating new members at a formal assembly and enthusiastically supporting the handbook of Pampa High School, "Harvester Halls."

Pat Chandler, vice-president, Louise Richardson, secretary, and Sally Paden, president, study needed changes in Harvester Halls with Mrs. Virginia Myers, NHS sponsor.

Journalists Promote Creative Thoughts

Quill and Scroll, sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Hurley, is an international honor society for high school journalists. Quill and Scroll promotes forceful writing, clear thinking and scholarship.

To become a member, a student must be a junior with an 85 average for the preceding year, have worked on one of the publications for a year, and be approved by the sponsor.

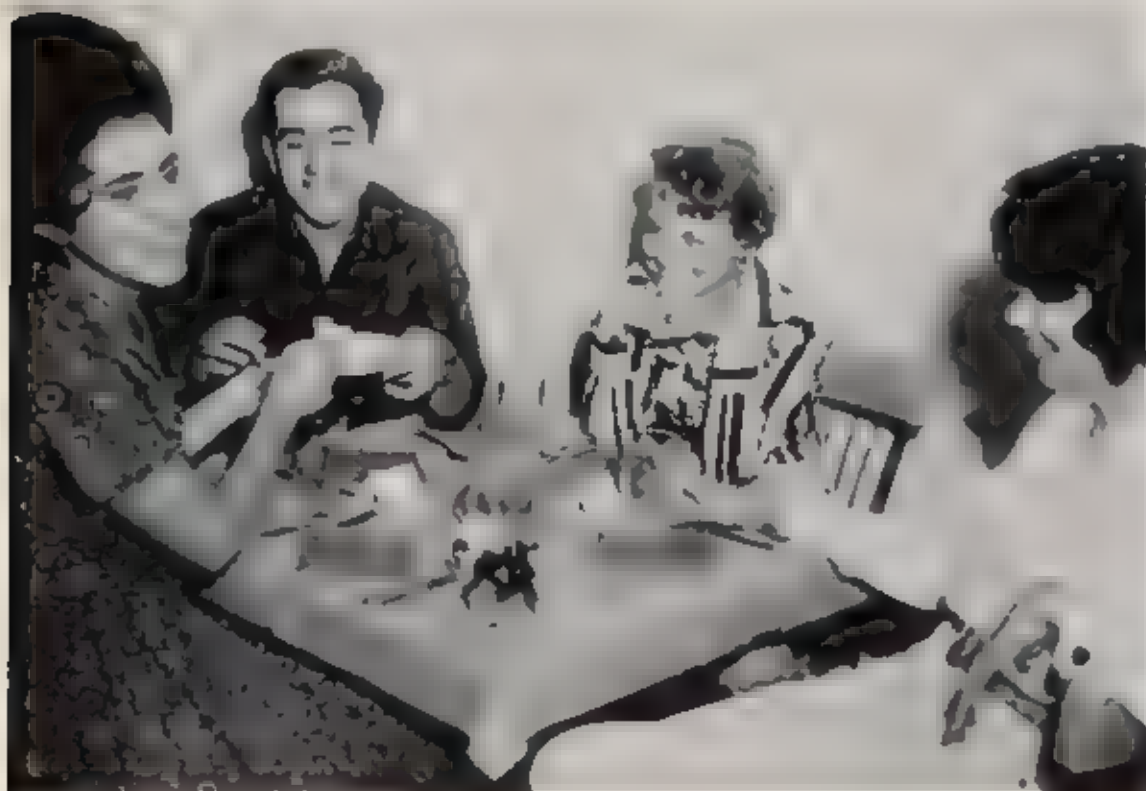

Activities include an annual steak fry, initiation of new members, and a Christmas basket for a needy Pampa family. Spring initiates this year were Marylyn Brown, Ronnie Choat, Ann Daniels, Lanelle Emler, Mike Maguire, Brenda Nabors and Jon Pitts.

Connie Kuntz, Little Harvester associate editor, serves a cup of punch to Phyllis Dalsing, annual editor, at the initiation.

Gordon Bayless, two-year member, drills initiates Rose Webb and Gail Cole on Quill and Scroll principles.

Enjoying the annual Quill and Scroll steak fry are Phyllis Dalsing, vice-president, Connie Kuntz, president, Turan Soylemez and Luisa Prieto, foreign exchange students, who were special guests.

Jan Porter, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Hurley, sponsor, prepare for the Quill and Scroll initiation.

Preparing to initiate new members are the last year's initiates, Sheri Walker, Jan Adams, Jamie Thompson, Don Sears, Janis Lively and Sally Paden.

Miss Helen Schafer, sponsor, and Johnlyn Mitchell, president, compare notes as they proceed to offer advice and instructions to the junior play cast.

Awaiting the moment when they will become Thespians are James Shelton, Candy Noblitt, Edwin Albers, Tommy Veale, seated, Dana Taylor, Robert Pullen, Raymond Nance and Sandra Molesworth.

Drama Appreciation Sought by Thespians

Thespian Troupe 1010 seeks to instill in the drama group a greater and keener appreciation for the dramatic arts. The earning of ten points by performing in plays, public speaking, or stage crew work is one requirement for membership in the club. Maintaining a B average and reciting twenty lines of Shakespeare are other requirements.

Traditional activities include the sophomore one-act plays directed by senior Thespians, the Children's Theater plays given at elementary schools, fall and spring initiations, and a steak fry at the end of the year.

Thespians travel to the Amarillo Little Theatre and the Branding Iron Theatre in Canvon for plays. They journey to Eastern New Mexico University at Portales for a drama festival, where they won an excellent rating last year.

Billy Mangham, treasurer, Mike Maguire, vice president, and Sue Price, secretary, stop for a chat at the January initiation.

Annual Staff Works Toward Better Book

Producing a yearbook that Pampa High students will remember in years to come is the aim of the Harvester staff.

During the three deadline weeks of the year, staffers join together after school and at night to compile pictures, copy, layouts and art work into the finished pages to send to the publisher.

To become a member of the staff, a student must possess an interest in journalism, art or photography.

Checking the list of advertisers and preparing page layouts are Richard Steele, business manager, and Ann Daniels, advertising manager.

Phyllis Dalsing, editor-in-chief, hands an award to a winner at Texas High School Press Association in Denton. Phyllis was THSPA secretary this year

Ann Christie, RIGHT, clubs editor, assisted by Carolyn Tucker and Andrea Jewell, edits copy to meet a deadline.

This is a familiar scene on the night of the annual signing party when students swarm into the main hall and cafeteria to have friends sign their yearbooks

Gail Cole, editor-in-chief, copyreads a story for an issue of the Little Harvester.

Newspaper Reports All School Activities

Interviewing news sources, writing stories and editorials, editing and headlining copy, reading proofs for correction of errors, and selling advertisements are a few of the assignments that keep Little Harvester staff members busy publishing a weekly newspaper.

Staffers travel each year to Lubbock, Denton, Canyon and Austin to attend conventions of West Texas High School Press Association, Texas High School Press Association, Panhandle High School Press Association and Interscholastic League Press Conference.

Typing stories for the Little Harvester are Frances Prince, Kathy Forker, Linda Killough, Pat Collett and Patsy Rose.

Pat Ludeman, circulation manager, delivers a stack of papers to homeroom subscribers.

Inserting and counting papers by homerooms, and preparing mail copies, staff members gather each Thursday afternoon to get papers ready for Friday morning delivery.

Jan Grady, Ronnie Choat and Gail Cole look at "Cream of the Crop" winners at the Texas High School Press Association in Denton.

Mike Maguire, exchange editor, helps to spot plays for Ronnie Choat, sports editor, in the Harvester Stadium press box.

Brenda Nabors, business manager, posts advertising accounts in the ledger, while Russell Veal, advertising manager, checks the runsheet to dummy ads for a weekly issue

Jennifer Turner, right, feature editor, edits copy while Helen Hampton and Judie Riley, news editors, work on a difficult headline

Typing copy for the paper are Jan Grady, Chris Grayson, Mary Ellen Cooper and Jenny Goff.

Mr. Aubra Nooncaster, sponsor, gives helpful suggestions for Prairie Gold to Mike Maguire, left, and Wayne Hawkins, co-editors.

Checking a thesaurus for the best word to use in a manuscript they are editing are Susie Fillman, assistant editor, and Edwin Albers, business manager.

Young Authors Write For New Magazine

Resumed after a lapse of many years, Prairie Gold, literary magazine, was scheduled to be published in the spring after subscription sales during the fall.

Manuscripts written by high school students were to be edited by the student staffers under the supervision of Mr. Aubra Nooncaster and Mrs. J. E. Torvie, sponsors. Material was to include short stories, essays and poetry.

Dana Taylor and Wayne Lyas, staff members, observe Mrs. J. E. Torvie, cosponsor, as she critically checks a short story.

Kaye C. Hubbard and Rose Webb are among the first students to buy subscriptions to the new literary magazine. Making the sales is Pat Chandler.

Senior Class Drama

Portrays Small Town

Life, love and death in a typical small town was portrayed by seniors in their class play, "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder.

Miss Helen Schafer directed the play, with Jan Lively as student director. Narrated by Don Sears as the Stage Manager, the cast featured Sandra Molesworth, Raymond Nance, Edwin Albers, Mike Maguire, Johnlyn Mitchell and Susie Fillman in the leading roles.

Others in the cast were Sheri Walker, Bill Leonard, Candy Noblitt, Larry Stephens, Ronnie Brown, John Holloway, Charlie Cross, Robert Pullen, Bill Mangham, Tommy Veale, Carson Snow, Chris Grayson, Sally Paden, Gertie Eslick, Billy Thompson, Jenny Ledrick, Jan Adams, Jan Porter, Elaine Thornburg, Bobby Howard and Dianne Ammons.

Dr. Gibbs (Mike Maguire) and Mr. Webb (Edwin Albers) congratulate each other on the approaching marriage of their children while Wally Webb (Bill Leonard) waits for his sister's wedding to start.

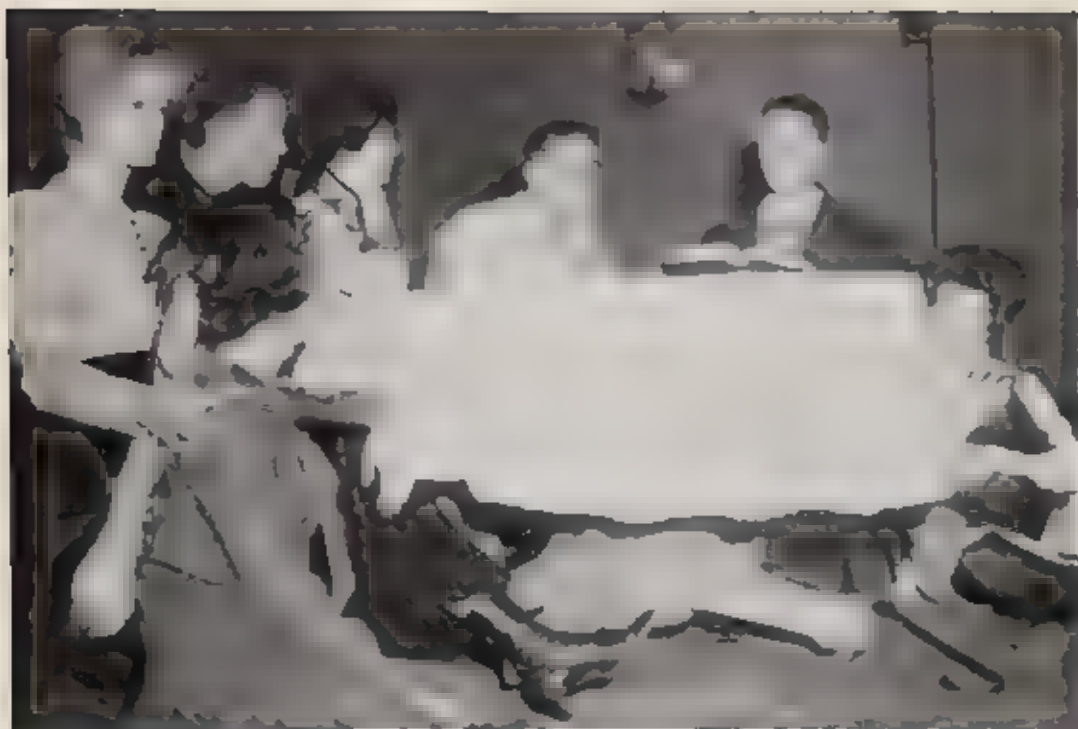

Excitedly gossiping over the affairs of the townsfolk are Mrs. Gibbs (Johnlyn Mitchell), Mrs. Webb (Susie Fillman) and Mrs. Soames (Candy Noblitt).

Don Sears as the Stage Manager glibly tells the story of "Our Town."

Rebecca Gibbs (Sheridan Walker) tells her brother, George (Raymond Nance), about a letter as she leans out of her window. Emily Webb (Sandra Molesworth) stops her homework to look out her window and dream.

With Dagmar (Jane Heaton) sitting at his feet, Mr. Hyde (Price Dosier) dramatically reads "The Hound of the Baskervilles" to the Hanson family, Chris (Carol Chase), Mama (Kathy Larsen), Papa (Robin Vail), Katrin (Charlotte Benton) and Nels (Clay Lively).

Mama (Kathy Larsen) reminisces about life in the old country, Norway, with Katrin (Charlotte Benton) over a cup of coffee and a soda, while the drug store clerk (Larry Johnson) polishes glasses.

Mr. Thorsen (Barry Peterson) and Irma (Dana Taylor) stop during a stroll in the park to admire their baby, the greatest treasure of their marriage.

Junior Play Focuses On Norwegian 'Mama'

"I Remember Mama," by Kathryn Forbes, a touching combination of comedy and real-life drama, was presented February 22 and 23 by the Junior Class.

The play tells of the life of a Norwegian-American family of six, plus several relatives. Main characters are Katrin, the oldest daughter, played by Charlotte Benton; Mama, played by Kathy Larsen; Papa, played by Robin Vail; Christine, played by Jane Heaton; and Nels, played by Clay Lively.

Supporting players were Rex Rose, Ann Qualls, Dana Taylor, Sandy Bush, Price Dosier, Barry Peterson, Bill McKinney, Hank Henry, Helen Moffitt, Sandy Tomson, Carol Peeples, Martha Pattillo, Sue Bray, Cindy Erwin, Nancy O'Donnell, Carole Sears, Larry Johnson, Kathleen St. Clair, Tim Eller, Joe Fischer, John Reynolds and Pat Overton.

Stage crews included Joe Fischer, Don Rexroad, John Tripplehorn, Ricky Goodwin and John Reynolds, assisted by seniors Charlie Cross, Don Sears, Bill Mangham, Mike Maguire, Robert Pullen and Carson Snow.

Jenny (Ann Qualls) forcefully tries to persuade Sigrid (Sandra Bush) to talk to Uncle Chris (Rex Rose) about her son's operation, which Uncle Chris has maneuvered.

On their way to see the Wizard of Oz are the Tin Woodman (Sally Paden), Scarecrow (Sheri Walker), Dorothy (Sue Price) and Toto the dog (Bill Mangham).

Students Perform for Grade Schools

Children's Theater, whose casts this year are composed of Thespians, presents plays for the younger children of Pampa to stimulate their understanding and imagination.

Directed by Miss Helen Schafer, the plays are trooped to the elementary schools.

This year "The Wizard of Oz" was presented for the students of Stephen F. Austin, W. B. Travis, Horace Mann, B. M. Baker, Woodrow Wilson and Lamar schools during November and December.

Sue Price played the leading role of Dorothy, with Don Sears as the Wizard, Sheri Walker as the Scarecrow, Jan Lively as the Cowardly Lion, Sally Paden as Tin Woodman and Bill Mangham as Toto, the dog.

The Wizard of Oz (Don Sears) reveals his true identity to the astonishment of the people of his town and those who have traveled from far away to visit him.

The Wicked Witch (Dana Taylor) casts a spell over Dorothy (Sue Price) before she starts on her journey through the forest to see the Wizard.

Debate Club Argues Factual Information

In Debate Club, students learn to discuss both sides of controversial issues, supporting their arguments with factual information. The subject for this year's debate competition in Interscholastic League contests is: Resolved that the United States may back the Common Market for the Western Hemisphere.

Debates with teams from other schools and competition in Interscholastic League contests was scheduled by members this spring.

Coaching Assistants Type, Answer Phone

Eight girls work as student assistants to the eight coaches of Pampa High School in the football and basketball coaching offices.

The girls keep busy answering the telephone, typing stencils and other material and running errands.

Assistants in the coaches' offices are Betty Enright, Tommie Babcock, Janet Baker, Carol Muns, Gwen Carver and Kathy West. Not pictured are Sue Lee and Jenny Ledrick.

Registrar Assistants Keep Busy in Office

Answering the telephone, delivering messages to students and teachers, typing, filing and checking permanent record cards are some of the duties of the girls who work in the registrar's office.

The student office assistants who help Mrs. M. E. Webb, registrar, also distribute the mail to teachers in their faculty boxes.

Co-Op Sells Students Variety of Supplies

Selling school supplies, running mimeograph and stencil machines and writing receipts for money deposited in club and activity accounts are some of the tasks of students working in the Co-Op.

The student assistants also help Mrs. John Woods, school secretary, with work in the bookroom.

After Christmas the Co-Op and bookroom were moved to new quarters in the old film room in the basement next to the cafeteria.

Mrs. Ruby Capps has as her assistants in the counselor's office: SEATED: Gail Cole, Johnlyn Mitchell, Cile Gordon. STANDING: Kayleen Layne, Judy Horn, Vicki Lash, Donna Petty, Carol Muns, Gay Arndt and Ann Barnes.

Assistants Lighten Work of Counselor

Filing, typing student records, answering the telephone and acting as receptionists, ten girls help Mrs. Ruby Capps with work in the counselor's office.

The counselor advises students on courses to schedule to meet the credit requirements for graduation, as well as supervises the giving of aptitude and intelligence tests.

Library Assistants Check, Shelve Books

Checking books and magazines in and out of the library, filing rental cards, aiding students in finding research information and returning books to the shelves that are used each class period—these are the main duties of library student assistants.

They take care of any work assigned them by Miss Mary Gordon, librarian.

Rain, snow or holiday—before, during and after school—the Harvester Band drilled on intricate routines prepared by Director Fred Stockdale.

Through all kinds of weather, the band skillfully performed precision marching routines between halves at Pampa football games—at home and away. Even in freezing temperatures, the high-stepping twirlers were in front of the band adding a sparkling touch to the marching rhythms of a top-rated band.

Leading the band on the field was Drum Major Gordon Bayless.

Cotton Bowl Hosts Precision Marchers

Acclaimed by 50,000 fans and viewed on a nationwide television network, the Harvester Band presented the first precision marching performance of "Mutiny on the Bounty" at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas November 11.

Special permission from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio and the Columbia Broadcasting Company enabled the 94-member band to play the theme from the current hit movie between halves of the New York Giants-Dallas Cowboys professional football game.

Climaxing the Veterans Day halftime show, Director Fred Stockdale conducted a spectacular rendition of "God Bless America" by the Pampa band, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and a military drill team, who formed a mammoth shield on the field.

The three-day trip to Dallas was the band's top event of the year. They visited "Six Flags Over Texas" while in Dallas. Traveling on three chartered buses, the musical delegation performed at halftime at the Harvester-Westerner football game in Lubbock en route to Dallas.

Assembly, Festivals Top Year for Choirs

Sing high, sing low! Either way, A Cappella Choir sopranos and basses combined to provide many entertaining programs during the year. Starting in the summer, choir members worked on choreography for their musical, "Where's Charley?" The play was presented to packed houses on three consecutive nights.

Attending the sixth annual Eastern New Mexico Chorale Festival at Portales, the choir received the outstanding choir award as the choice of all directors at the festival, held October 13.

A Cappella members attended the Perryton Christmas Music Festival, where Dr. Houston Bright of West Texas State College directed the combined choirs in a medley of Christmas carols as the concluding number on the program.

All high school choirs presented a Christmas program for the student body in an assembly in the Fieldhouse.

* On May 3 the annual spring festival was scheduled to be presented by elementary, junior high and high school choirs. More than 700 voices combined in the "grand" finale of the school year.

Bill Mangham, president, thinks of ways to entice customers, while Kelly Robinson, vice-president, and Judy Pemberton, secretary, wait to take their money for the choir's booth at the All School Carnival.

Auditorium Crowded at Choir Production

"Where's Charley?" This question will be remembered for a long time by members of the A Cappella Choir who performed the musical before standing-room-only crowds in the Pampa High auditorium for three nights, November 29 30 and December 1.

Set to music by Frank Loesser, the production based on the stage play, "Charley's Aunt," was directed by Mr. Hugh Sanders, with Neil Hess of Amarillo as choreographer. Miss Helen Schafer was drama adviser, and Joyce Prock was accompanist. Special accompaniment was provided by a group from the Pampa High band.

Students Give Money, Time to Red Cross

High School Red Cross has grown up in Pampa. Once known as Junior Red Cross, the students of Pampa have made it known throughout the community because of its fund-raising records and other projects.

In recent years the chapter has attempted to raise money in friendly competition with other high schools of comparable enrollment. These drives, which help people all over the world, also give other communities an idea of the generosity of Pampa citizens.

Besides the fund drive, members bring gaiety and brightness to the hospital with their lively chatter and sparkling ornaments as Christmas time.

As rewards for work well done and to learn more about High School Red Cross, Pam Ludeman and Eddie Edwards, president, attended the Red Cross Training Center in Goddard, Kansas, last summer.

Tri-Hi-Y Promotes Christian Character

Tri-Hi Y is an organization for all high school girls. It seeks to create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character throughout the school, home, and community.

The enrollment drive was climaxed with a tea in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church.

Members sold candy to earn club sweaters. Other activities included a popcorn booth at the All-School Carnival. Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for needy families, "peanut pals" at Christmas, an Easter egg hunt for the Negro nursery, and a Mother's Day tea. A trip to Boys' Ranch in Amarillo was planned for the spring of the year.

Delegates attended the district convention in Abilene and the state convention in El Paso this year. Last year the club received the distinction of being an Honor Club. Last year Kayleen Layne received the award for being the hardest worker.

Mrs. Ross Baird, co-sponsor, goes over the program for the initiation ceremony with Dianne Hepler, historian.

Tri-Sci Stimulates Research Projects

Tri-Sci was organized three years ago to promote interest in the sciences, stimulate reading, encourage projects, and provide students with information regarding scholarships and college requirements for science curricula.

Students from the biology, chemistry, and physics classes compose the club's membership. Interest to remain active and the maintaining of a scholastic average are two requirements for membership.

Each year the club sponsors the Pampa Science Fair.

Al Lawson, retired sign businessman, shows Price Dosier, secretary-treasurer, and Carol Chase, vice-president, how to fuse two pieces of glass tubing together.

While Derrel Grout of the Helium Research Center in Amarillo watches, Wayne Hawkins, reporter, demonstrates with liquid air during a program given by Tri Sci.

After putting on safety glasses before entering the Celanese Corporation Plant, Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, sponsor, and Susan Watson, president, check area codes.

Edwin Albers, who received this year's Bausch-Lomb chemical award, demonstrates his Science Fair project, "Ballistics of a Low Velocity Projectile"

Farmers Judge Soil, Stock in Agriculture

Future Farmers of America learn modern and up-to-date ways of farming and ranching. Skills they learn enable members to "learn to serve." Every Future Farmer strives to carry out this F.F.A. motto.

Purpose of F.F.A. is to develop leadership and character, to train for useful citizenship, to encourage improvement in scholarship, to teach sportsmanship, and to encourage farming and ranching as an occupation.

A father-son barbecue, F.H.A. and F.F.A. western Christmas dance, annual hayride and the ice cream supper highlight activities of F.F.A.

Girls in Homemaking Learn Modern Skills

Future Homemakers of America promotes an appreciation of the joys and satisfaction of homemaking, creation of democracy in home and community life, maintenance of international good will, and development of creative leadership in home and community life.

F.H.A. is no longer an organization in which only cooking and sewing are taught. Modern girls now learn to care for the sick, to decorate the home attractively, and to apply performing household duties.

Traditional activities include a trip to the Tri-State Fair, a mother-daughter supper, and coronation of the club's sweetheart and beau.

Club members have won honors in area and state contests. Barbara Johnson was selected a member of the Teen Fashion Board.

Representing the royalty of F.H.A. are Betty Irvin and Sammy Whatley as Sweetheart and Beau.

Teaching Opens Door to Rewarding Career

Future Teachers of America encourages the interest of high school students in the teaching profession. Senior members are given an opportunity to observe teaching techniques and gain experiences in teaching in local elementary schools in the spring.

New members were initiated into the club in a ceremony in the home economics living room in October.

Members attended the District IX meeting in Canyon in November, where Johnlyn Mitchell was vice-president. Marion Neslage was elected district financial secretary for the coming year. As Pampa's Miss F.T.A., Johnlyn won second place in the district contest, speaking on "Today's Heritage, Tomorrow's Teachers." Pampa's Mr. F.T.A., Mike Maguire, was named alternate.

Other activities included a Christmas party for the Negro Nursery.

Mike Maguire, president, and Johnlyn Mitchell, Mr. and Miss F.T.A., practice their speeches for the district convention in Canyon.

As John Schmidt, right, awaits his turn, Cynthia Morgan, secretary, serves another initiate, James Shelton.

Key Boys Acquire Leadership Ability

With Melvin T. Munn sponsoring Pampa's boys' service organization, the Key Club serves the school, community, state and nation. The club's primary purpose is to develop leadership and initiative.

Beginning its activities with a "Welcome to School" program, the club carried out its purpose with a refreshment service to the Harvester Stadium press box, Teacher Appreciation Day, the annual Leadership Banquet, and the Pampa Pilgrimage—a family "walk-to-church" on a Sunday before Christmas.

The club's projects won second place in the district, the Achievement Award, and honorable mention for district scrapbook in 1962.

Placing flags and historical documents in classrooms was a key project this year.

Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, sponsor, watches Maurine Stuart, treasurer, take the temperature of a hospital patient.

Penny Nickel, left, chaplain, and Jan Cook observe Dr. Weldon Adair as he examines the teeth of a small patient.

Mrs. Dee Moore, co sponsor, watches Maudie Ownsby, secretary, serve Sue Fife, vice-president, and Joretta Baird, president, at their carnival booth.

Nurses Bring Cheer, Color to Hospital

Future Nurses of America was organized to better inform interested girls about careers in the nursing profession. Pink-and-white uniformed members work after school and on weekends at Highland General Hospital to gain experience and earn caps and pins by a point system.

The Club planned several field trips this year to various hospitals and doctors' offices in this area to acquaint members with procedures and rules. Jan Little, Carol Peeples, Sue Fife, Joretta Baird, and Barbara Johnson helped in the Sabin Oral Vaccine program for the Pampa area. Members assisted in handing out the vaccine at various inoculation centers set up in local elementary schools.

To earn funds, the club sponsored a "Magnolia Manor" booth at the All-School Carnival. Selling "grits and hominy" in the manner of candies and cookies, the girls were rewarded for their effort by winning first place in the booth contest.

Jan Little and Carol Peeples arrange the small paper cups of Sabin oral vaccine before taking them to be distributed to Pampa citizens on "inoculation" day.

Latin Club Sparks Interest in Romans

Junior Classical League encourages interest in Roman life, history, and literature, and helps members to understand the practical and cultural values of Latin.

This year the club sponsored a cotton candy booth and marriage booth at the All-School Carnival.

JCL members learned Christmas carols in Latin and met at Carletta Johnson's house for a caroling party the week before Christmas.

Other activities include the annual slave sale and the Roman Banquet.

This year the club presented several plays for junior high clubs, including "Rura Cuculla" ("Little Red Riding Hood") and "Puer Aeger" ("The Sick Boy").

Edwin Albers attended the national convention in Montana, and Phyllis Dalsing received the 1962 Latin Award, given at the Awards Assembly to an outstanding student of Latin.

"Get your cascarones here," cry Spanish presidents Eugene Madrid, Terry Edmondson and Keith Riemer as they sell their egg at the All School Carnival.

Luisa Prieto, in the interest of good will, models the traditional clothes of her native land, Spain.

Two Clubs Enliven Study of Languages

"Buenos dias, senior" and "bon jour" are frequent phrases heard in the halls of Pampa High School as the students of Spanish and French practice their newly-acquired ability on their friends.

These students not only learn a new language, but they also gain a better understanding of the people and customs of these countries.

Spanish students, in the pursuit of fun, make and sell cascarones (confetti-filled eggs) for the All-School Carnival and hold a Spanish banquet with authentic Mexican food.

The French Club also has a booth at the All-School Carnival and enjoys singing Christmas carols in French.

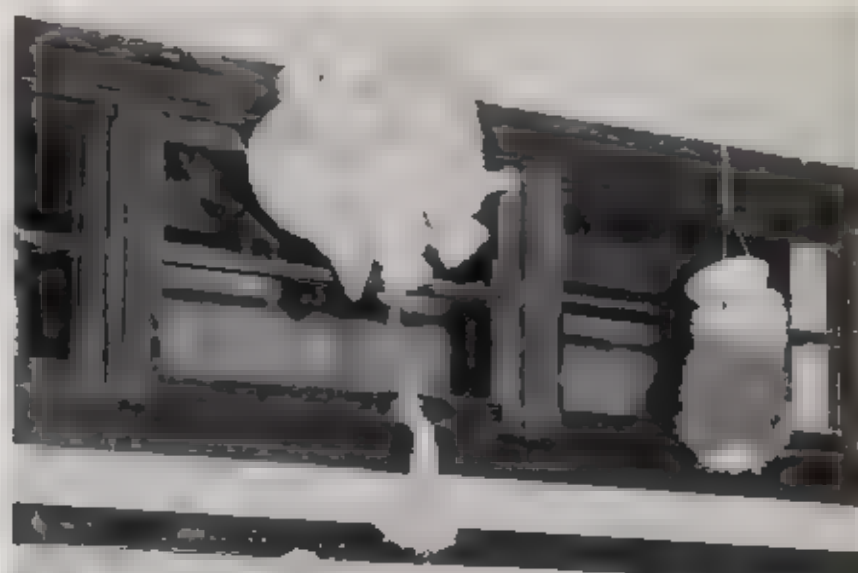

Spanish students industriously decorate eggs for the All-School Carnival.

Math Club Tackles Advanced Problems

Members of the Math and Slide Rule Club meet every Friday morning before school to work together on difficult homework and other math problems.

The membership is composed mainly of students enrolled in solid geometry, trigonometry, and Algebra III courses. The club is sponsored by all the math teachers in Pampa High School, with Mr. John Plaster as head sponsor.

The big question of the club this year was, "Does plus infinity equal minus infinity?" Wayne Hawkins, president, presented his views for the pro side of the question. Mr. Perry Sikes presented the con side of the question.

Meetings at the first of the year were devoted mainly to learning how to use the slide rule. Later in the year, members began to study primary facts of calculus.

Douglas Locke and Turan Soylemez heatedly discuss the solution of a math problem.

Four New Coaches Join Harvester Staff

Otis Holladay took over the reins as Pampa's head football coach this year, bringing with him three other new grid mentors. Holladay came to Pampa last spring from Gainesville, where his team reached the 3-A state finals. In 1958 his White Deer team won the state 1-A championship.

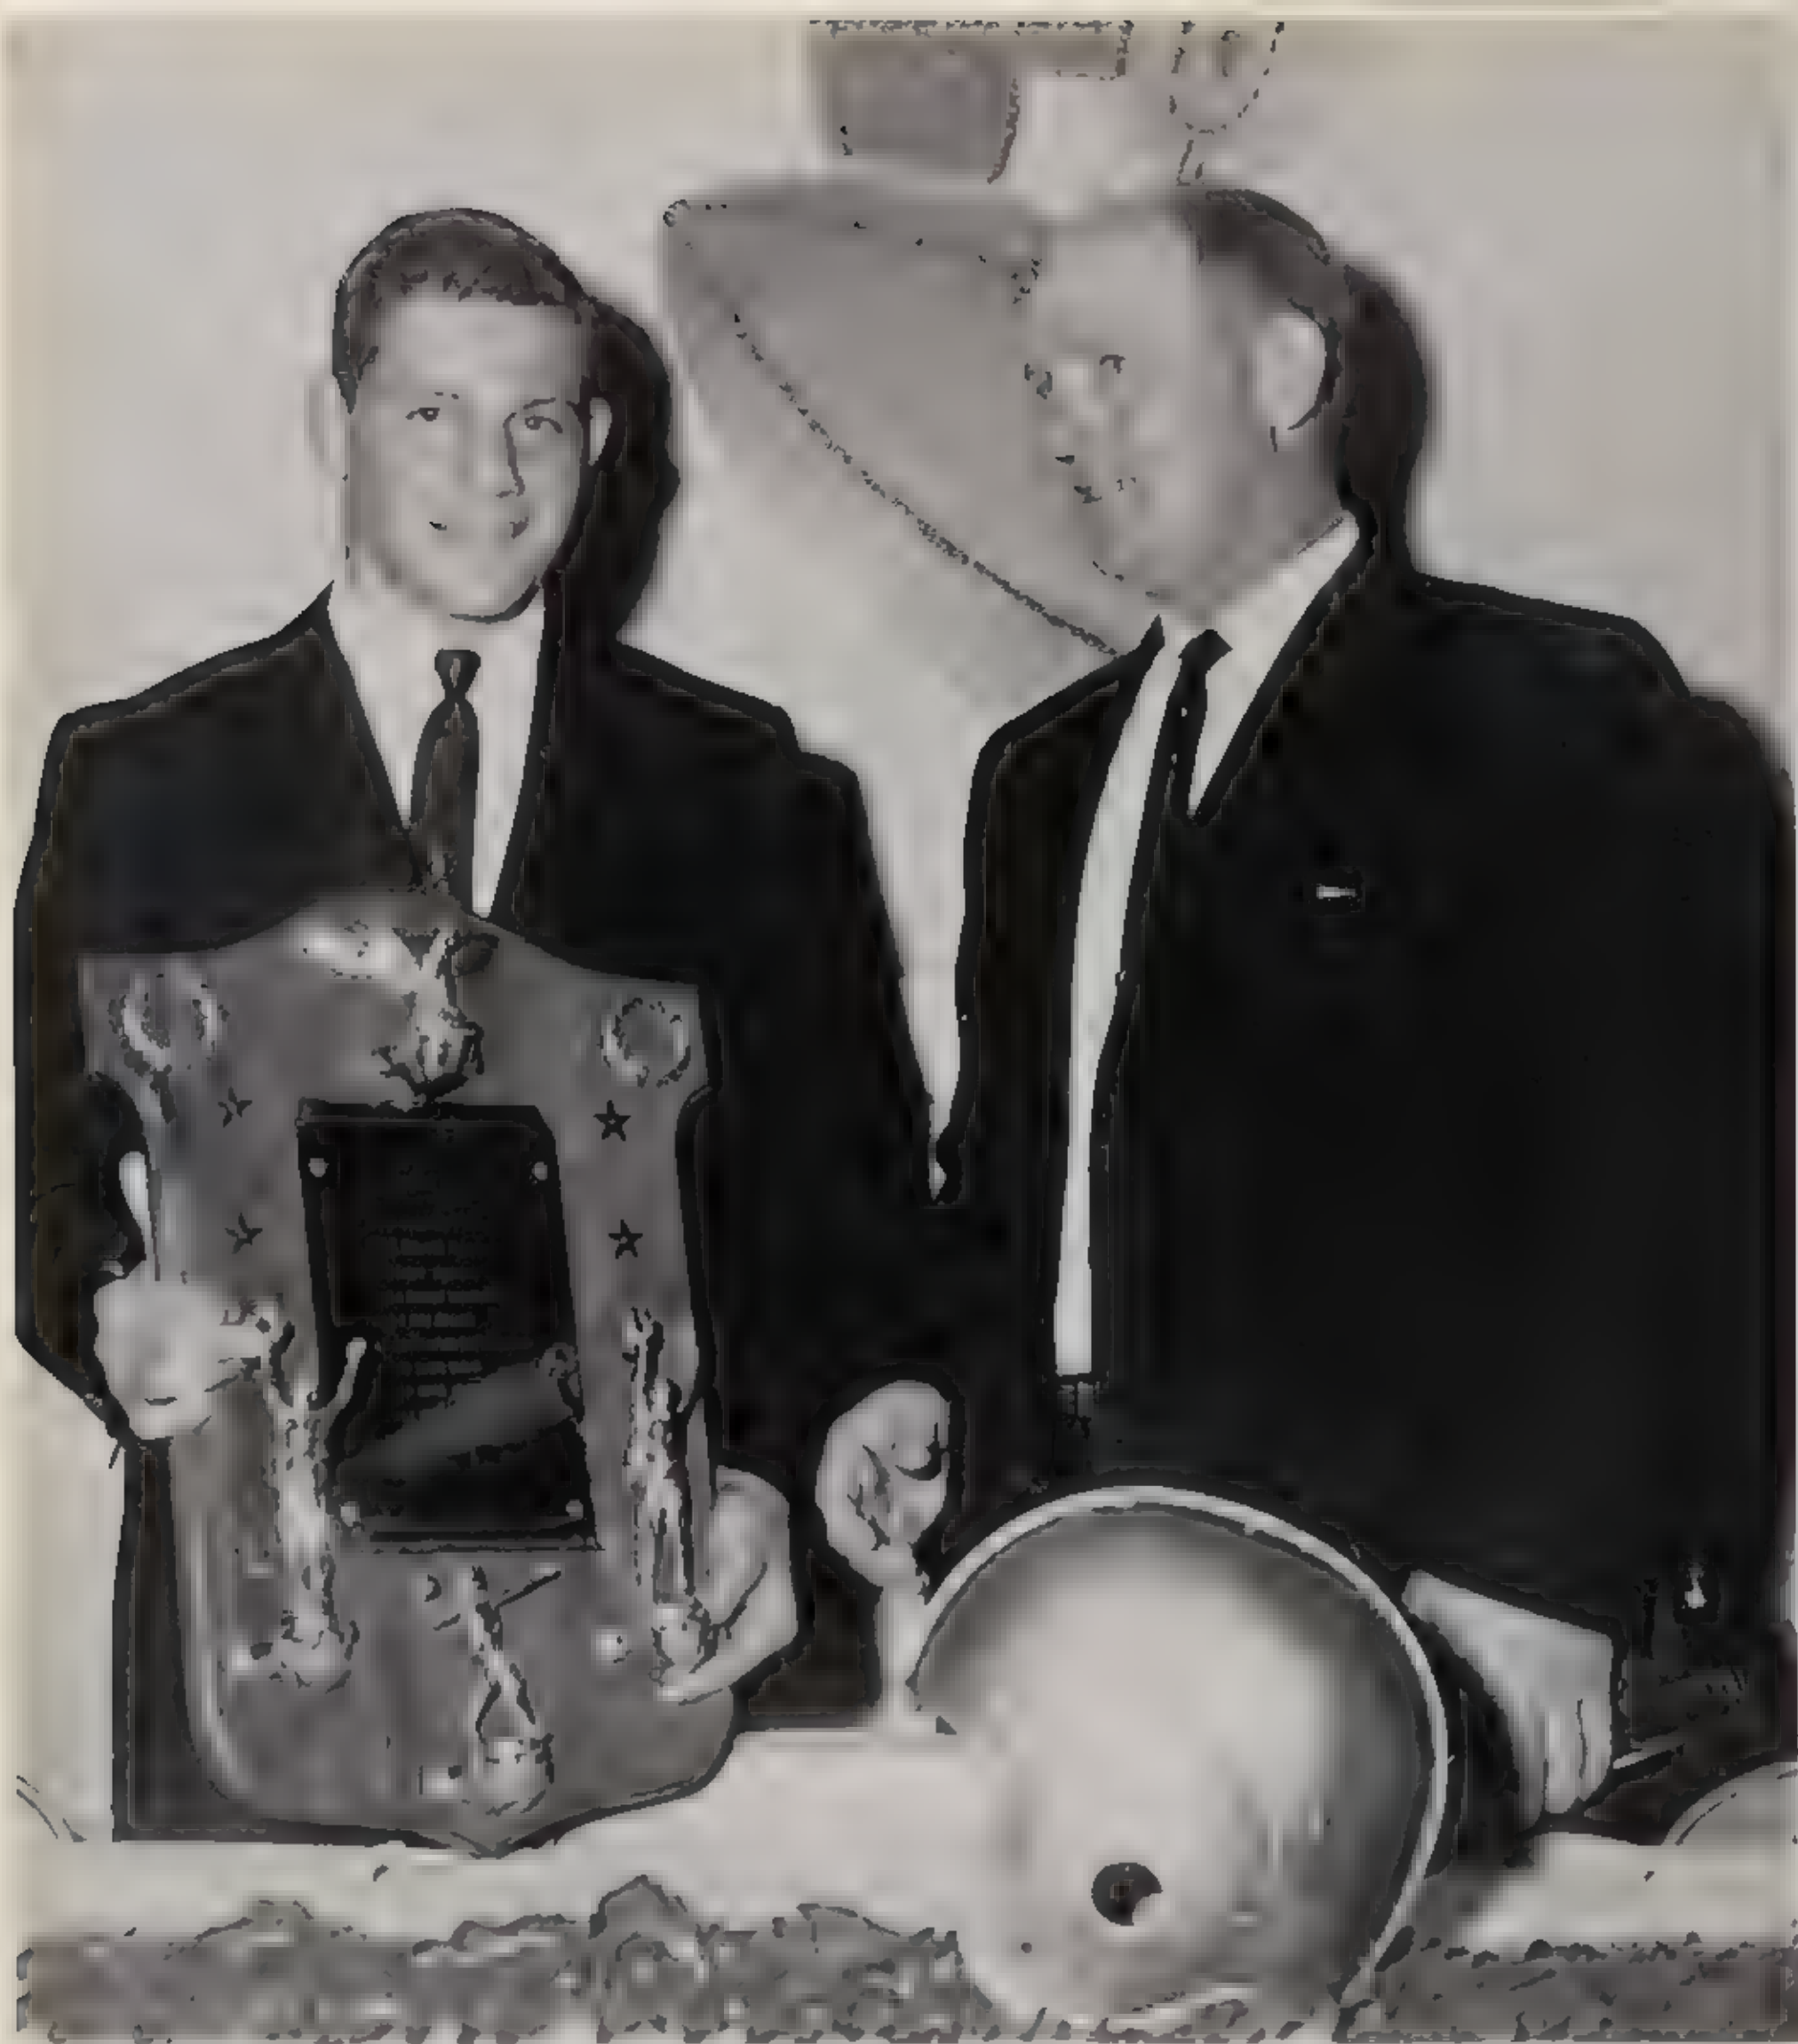

Coming with Coach Holladay from Gainesville

last spring was Brown Smith, while Randy Roten and Ray Howard joined the staff this year. Smith, graduate of Howard Payne College, and Howard, Texas Tech graduate, are assistant Harvester coaches along with Eural Ramsey. Roten, McMurry College graduate, coaches the Shockers with Norman Phillips.

Ricky Goodwin receives the Fighting Heart award from Coach Otis Holladay at the football banquet in the Robert E. Lee Junior High cafeteria December 10.

FIGHTING HEART

Ricky Goodwin

No. 74

A junior guard with a "fighting" heart who never let up on the practice field or against tough opposition during a game—that's Ricky Goodwin, selected by the coaching staff for the 1962 Fighting Heart award. Ricky also won honorable mention on the 3-4A All-District team.

Tri-Captains HOWARD REED, DEE WRIGHT and JERRY GLOVER at football banquet.

Two Straight Wins Launch Grid Season

For the first time since 1956 the Harvesters opened their season with two straight victories under their new coach, Otis Holladay.

In the opening tussle September 14 Pampa bounced the Bel Air Highlanders 19-7. Kenny Herbert scored twice, and Howard Reed intercepted a pass and ran 55 yards for the final touchdown. When Bel Air threatened in the third period after recovering a Harvester fumble on the 10, Carl Clark threw Bill Britton for two straight losses. Two incomplete passes followed to constitute the Harvesters' first goal-line stand.

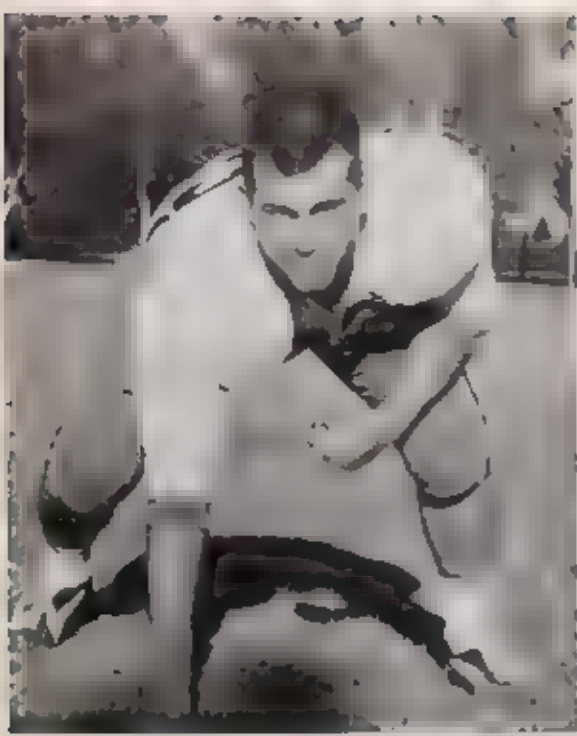

The second straight Harvester victory came as they blanked the Blackhawks from Phillips 12-0 in Blackhawk Stadium, September 22.

Feeling ran high as the Harvesters went into the game with Dumas, but the AAA state champions for two straight years were too much as they defeated the Harvesters 40-8 in Pampa September 28.

Rebels Bounce Pampa in First District Tilt

Tascosa did it again! The Tascosa Rebels kept their football record clean in competition with the Harvesters by grabbing their fifth consecutive victory in five years of grid play. Making his 1962 football debut in the district opener in Pampa October 5, Randy Matson paced the Harvesters with 42 yards rushing and Pampa's lone touchdown.

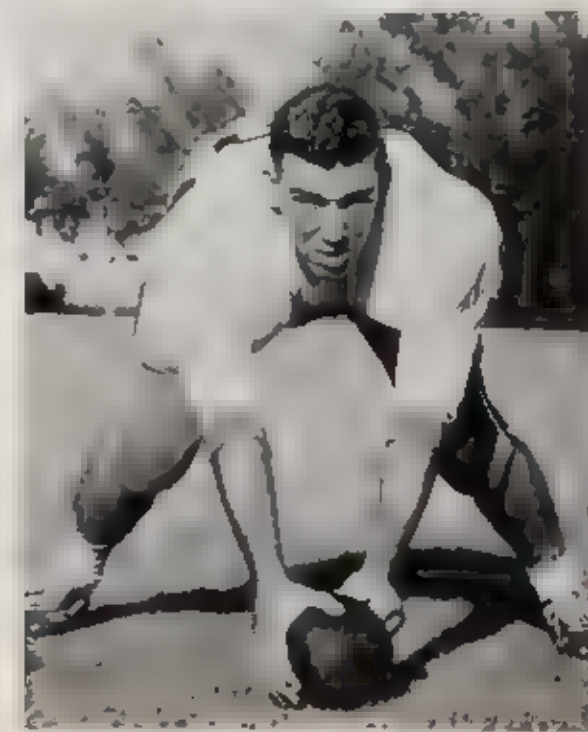

Despite the Harvesters' efforts, they lost to the Rebels 26-6. In the first half of play, Pampa and Tascosa ended in a 6-6 tie. The combination of halfback Mark Yarbrough and quarterback Johnny Weidling baffled the Harvester eleven all through the second half.

Pampa Scores First But Plainsmen Win

Dropping their second straight district game, Pampa was overpowered by the Monterey Plainsmen 35-13 in Lubbock October 12. Pampa led early in the first quarter when they marched 54 yards downfield with Donnie Ayres scoring, but Monterey led at the end of the half, 15-7. Pampa's second scoring drive was stopped by the clock.

In the fourth quarter Travis Tucker made the longest run of the game for 32 yards. Kenny Hebert scored from the two-yard line. Pampa moved into Plainsman territory again, but the game ended with Monterey having stretched their lead to 35-13. Mike Clubb and Ricky Bowers supplied the punch for Monterey.

Fighting Harvesters Upset Sandies 7-6

For the third time in their 41-year rivalry, the Harvesters beat the Sandies on Amarillo's home ground this year. Although they went into the game as underdogs, the Harvesters emerged with a 7-6 victory.

Pampa scored late in the first quarter. Because of tremendous downfield blocking by Rickey Stewart and John Brown, fullback Randy Matson was able to sprint 55 yards for the lone Harvester score, after breaking through a gap in the line opened by Dee Wright and Ricky Goodwin. Kenny Hebert kicked the winning point.

Luck sided with the Harvesters when Johnny Vachon slipped and fell on the Harvester three-yard line on the last play of the first half after taking a 32-yard aerial from Gilbert Coates. The Sandies scored in the third quarter but failed to kick the extra point.

Plunging forward, Randy Matson (37) tackles a Palo Duro pass receiver during the first quarter of the game in Pampa.

Eugene was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo where he was hospitalized for a week with a broken jaw and severe cuts and bruises. He was sidelined the rest of the season.

Since Eugene was in the hospital when yearbook football pictures were made, he was unable to have his picture taken.

Dons and Westerners Trounce Harvesters

The Harvesters dropped their fourth and fifth district games to Palo Duro 28-7 and Lubbock 20-8 after their thrilling win over the Sandies.

Pampa withered in the second half as the Palo Duro Dons, after trailing 0-1, came back in the second half with four touchdowns. Kenny Hebert came through again with the Harvester touchdown and conversion.

The Harvesters fell to the Lubbock Westerners 28-8 after fighting a scoreless defensive battle in the first quarter. The Harvesters moved the ball for a 91-yard touchdown drive in the second half, but three Westerner touchdowns were too much.

Freezing Fans Watch High-Scoring Victory

In their highest scoring game of the year, the Harvesters whizzed past the Plainview Bulldogs for a 40-6 victory in Harvester Stadium as fans shivered in freezing weather.

The Harvesters scored on their first drive after recovering a Plainview fumble with Kenny Hebert running a 19-yard touchdown. Pampa squeezed in another touchdown late in the first half for Hebert's second score. Immediately after the kickoff Pampa plowed for 61 yards and another touchdown for Hebert. Five plays later Donnie Ayres scored a 33-yard touchdown on a pass interception. Pampa kicked off, and Curtis Fletcher fell on the ball in the end zone for a fifth touchdown. All points after touchdown were two-pointers. Plainview scored only once, after a Harvester fumble.

Undefeated Bulldogs Stampede Locals

Rated No. 1 team in the state, the Borger Bulldogs stampeded the Harvesters, 40-8, in the last game of the season in Borger November 24.

Borger's defense was too much for Pampa as the deepest penetration in the first half was to the 36-yard line. The lone Harvester touchdown came on a 60-yard pass from Kenny Hebert to Randy Matson late in the fourth quarter. Hebert ran for the two extra points.

The swiftness of A. C. Tillman, the power drives of fullback Lee Johnson, the throwing arm of Wayne Rape, and the receiving of Joe Robinson showed the Harvesters why Borger was rated No. 1. Undefeated in regular season play, the Bulldogs lost in the state finals to San Antonio Brackenridge, 30-24.

Randy Matson (37) gallops around left end to gain a few yards before A. C. Tillman (12) and a fleet of other bulldogs catches him.

High-Scoring Cagers Overwhelm Opponents

Defeating every team in District 3-4A twice, Pampa rolled to an easy victory over the Palo Duro Dons, 70-42, in their district opener. The Harvesters paced the Dons during the entire game, leading 48-20 at halftime.

In the next game against Tascosa, the Harvesters captured their second win by 13 points, 72-59. Pampa defeated Lubbock by only three points in one of their closest encounters. The Borger Bulldogs took an early 7-0 lead, but the Harvesters came back to win, 59-51. The Bulldogs kept the game close most of the time, but the Culley aggregation rallied late in the game to draw away. After edging past the Sandies at Amarillo, 63-60, Pampa closed the first half of district play with a 26-point victory over Plainview.

In the second half of district play, the Harvesters hit their high-scoring mark with a 92-63 victory over Amarillo, when Wayne Kreis scored 38 points, one less than the Pampa record set by Gene Brown in 1956.

The Harvesters wrapped up the 3-4A crown with a 51-42 victory over Monterey with two games left to play. Although the Plainsmen led 28-23 at half-time, the Harvesters set a blistering second-half pace that overcame the first half deficit.

In the closing game at Plainview, the score changed hands 12 times and was tied six before the Harvesters went ahead to stay late in the third quarter after trailing the first two quarters. They went on to win 62-48.

Champs Undefeated In District Struggle

The Harvester basketball team finished undefeated in District 3-4A, with a season record of 29 won and only one lost.

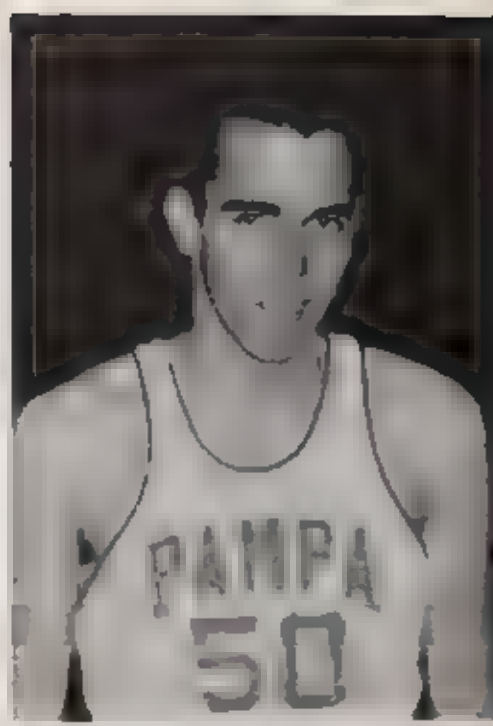

Besides being district champions, the Pampa quintet had the top district scorer, Wayne Kreis, with 19.9 points per game. The Harvesters duplicated the 14-0 district record of the 1959 state championship team.

The Pampa eagers also had the top scoring guard combination of Kreis and Keith Swanson. Four Harvesters were in the top 20 district scorers. Kreis and Randy Matson were named to the Amarillo Globe-Times All-District team. And Randy was the only unanimous choice of the eight District 3-4A coaches for the Pampa News All-District team. Kreis and Swanson both made the second team.

The only game the Harvesters lost was to the defending state champions, Thomas Jefferson of Dallas, by three points after leading most of the way in the Denton Tournament in December.

Bill Martin, one of two Harvesters to reach the regional meet last year, clears the bar with ease in trying to better his Pampa high-jump record of six feet.

All-American Paces Pampa Track Squad

Paced by All-American Randy Matson, who set new records in shot-put and discus at the state meet in Austin in 1962, the Harvester track team entered competition this year with six returning lettermen.

Bill Martin, who holds the Pampa High record of six feet in the high jump, placed second in that event in the district meet last year but failed to place at regional. Other returning lettermen are Ralph Palmer, who holds the Pampa school record of 50.5 in the 440-yard dash; Travis Tucker, sprinter and hurdler; Curtis Fletcher, sprinter; and Kenny Hebert, sprinter and hurdler. All but Hebert are seniors.

Last year in the state tournament Matson hurled the discus 185 feet, 9 $\frac{3}{4}$  inches, breaking the old record by more than 10 feet, and put the shot for a new record of 64 feet, 7 inches.

Invitational meets this year were slated at Fort Stockton, Snyder, Graham, Odessa, Lubbock, Amarillo and Andrews. District meet at Amarillo and regional at Odessa preceded the state meet in Austin May 2-4.

Checking equipment with Assistant Coach Randy Roten is the Harvester track manager, Barney Baker.

Coach Norman Phillips checks his time clock in giving the signal to start. All five are returning lettermen.

Five Lettermen Form Nucleus for Baseball

Five returning lettermen formed the nucleus of the 1963 Harvester baseball team.

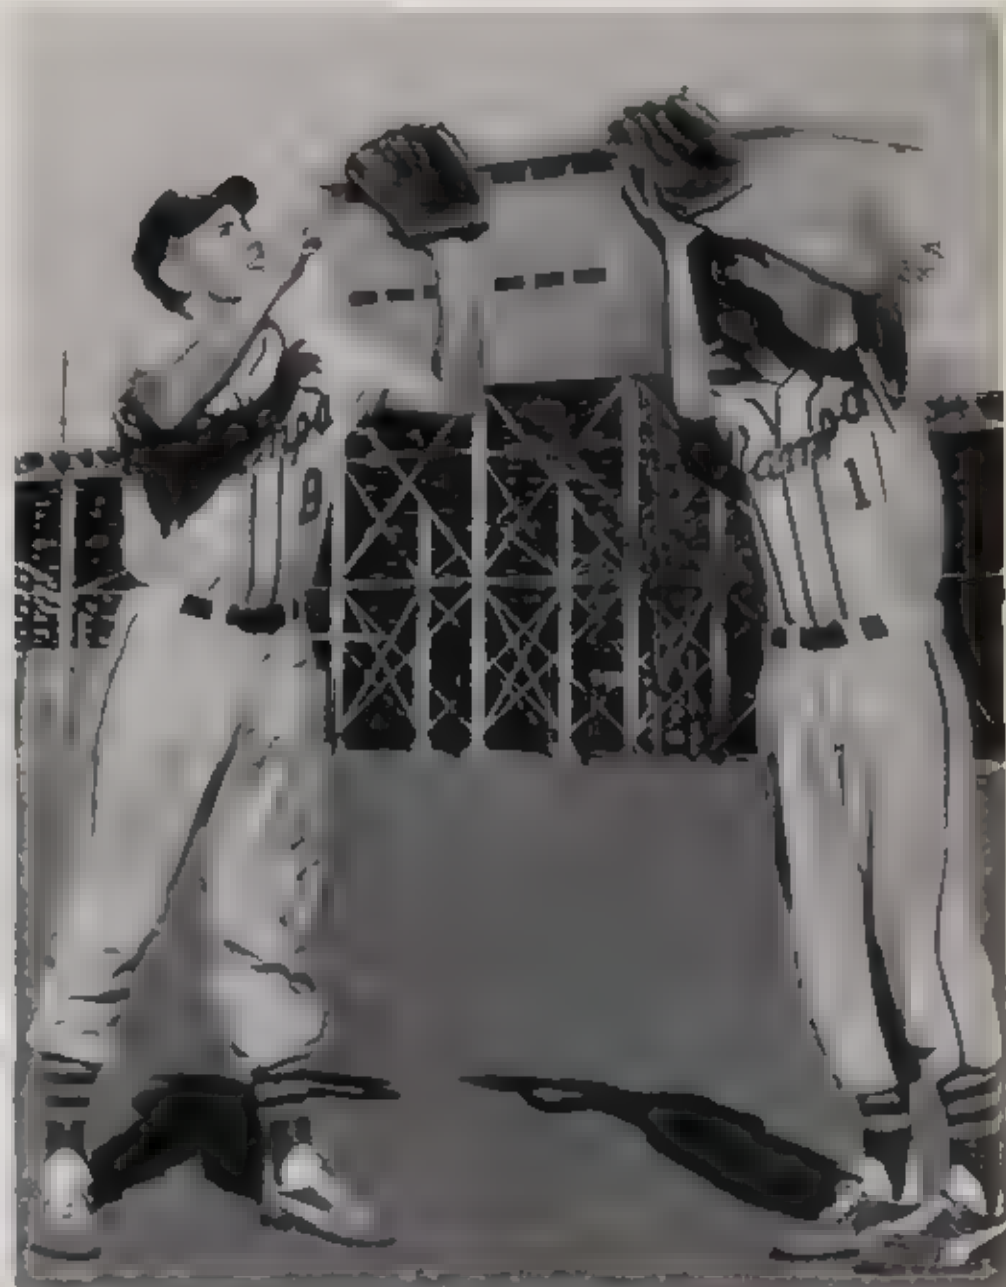

Senior lettermen playing their last season were Jerry Glover, pitcher, and Dee Wright, pitcher-catcher. Junior lettermen back from last year were Rickey Stewart, second baseman; Kenny Hebert, outfielder; and Larry Gregory, shortstop.

Last year's team finished the season with an 8-6 record, posting victories over Palo Duro, Plainview and Borger twice each, splitting games with Tascosa and Amarillo, and losing twice to both Lubbock and Monterey.

Rickey Stewart, second baseman, tries to put the tag on Jerry Glover, pitcher, as he slides while trying to stretch a hit into a double.

mondson and Coach Roy Kieval complete the tennis team

Freddie Howard waits for teammate Brian Prigmore to chip out of a sandtrap at the Pampa Country Club.

Johnny Weatherly removes the flag as Jim Thompson prepares for a long putt.

Coach Eural Ramsey demonstrates the correct way to swing a club for Ronald Thompson, John Tripplehorn and Bill McKinney.

Two Seniors Return To Lead Golf Team

Shooting in the low 70's, Brian Prigmore was expected to be the No. 1 golfer on the team this year, with Freddie Howard, shooting in the low 80's, the No. 2 man. Both senior lettermen, they played with last year's team that finished fifth in district.

The 1963 season opened March 1 at the Sweetwater Invitational Meet, two weeks before the first round of district competition started March 16 in Pampa. After the second district round at Borger March 23, the golfers entered the Amarillo Relays March 29-30.

Sandwiched between the third round of district competition at Amarillo April 6 and the regional meet in Odessa April 18-19 was the Andrews Invitational meet April 12-13. If they reached the state meet, they would travel to Austin May 2.

Turning out to start practice for the 1963 season are golf team members, FRONT ROW: John Weatherly, Brian Prigmore, Jim Thompson, Freddie Howard, Bill McKinney, Ronald Thompson, John Tripplehorn. BACK

Volleyball Team Competes in Tournaments

Opening the season Feb. 1-2 at a tournament in Odessa, the Harvesterette volleyball team coached by Mrs. Tom Chisholm defeated Iraan, then lost to Seminole. Two weeks later the team lost in the consolation semi-finals to Andrews after winning from Lamesa. In the first game they were defeated by Plains. The team entered a tournament at Big Spring Feb. 22-23.

Betty Brown and Linda Cox, B Team Captains, demonstrate calisthenics.

Francyne Forrester and Janie Thompson, A-Team Captains, take turns serving while Mrs. Chisholm watches.

Robert Frost . . . Whose 'Road' Is a Living Inspiration

One year ago the Harvester editors chose as the theme of the 1963 yearbook the poetry of Robert Frost, America's unofficial poet laureate, with "The Road Not Taken" as the key theme.

On January 29, 1963, this great American poet passed from the literary circle of the world. Although Mr. Frost will not be able to see this book, we hope that it will serve as a reminder of his contributions to modern literature. For his poetry will live on.

Recognition came late in life for this citizen of New England, yet he stands as America's only poet to receive the Pulitzer Prize four times. His understanding of human nature enabled him to project the typical into the universal in the lines of his poetry.

In January, 1961, Robert Frost was asked by President John F. Kennedy to read one of his poems at the presidential inauguration. And on his eighty-eighth birthday—March 26, 1962—President Kennedy presented him with a medal voted by Congress. Earlier Mr. Frost had been appointed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower as consultant in poetry of the Library of Congress.

With such inspiring examples as Mr. Frost, we must take the great step into life, and we can only hope that it is in the right direction. As the traveler in one of his best-known poems, we probably will always wonder about "the road not taken," even though we cannot return to travel it.

Thus, we felt that the poetry of Robert Frost expressed our feelings as we looked down the halls of Pampa High School, and we hope that you, too, will appreciate his words and their aptness to P.H.S. in 1963.
